BATES ON THE PAYROLL ALL WINTER LONG

Oregon Man Says Tangle Built Him Up 25 Pounds and Kept Him on Job by Completely Overcoming His Long-Standing Stomach Trouble.

"Tangle not only built me up twenty-five pounds but it actually kept me on the payroll all winter," said C. E. Bates, 470 Umattilla Ave., Portland, Ore., employee of the West Side Lumber Co.

"I suffered so bad from stomach trouble and a run-down condition for three years that even the slightest foods gave me indigestion. Gas on my stomach gave me awful cramps and my heart palpitated so I could hardly breathe. I had dizzy headaches and dizzy spells and my kidneys bothered me too, with each sharp pain in my back, I could scarcely bend over. Nothing helped me and I got so weak I had to give up my job when winter came for I didn't have strength enough to stand the cold."

"When I read how Tangle helped other people with troubles like mine, I decided to try it. I improved from the very first, now food fits all the time and will always have a good word to say for Tangle. It's a world beater."

It will be week after next before car lot shipments are rolling.

If the warm weather keeps up, growers of White Salmon and Underwood may reach a car lot shipment the later part of the next week. The berries there are ripening so fast that growers are sending all appeals for pickers.
