"GET-RICH-QUICK WALLINGFORD" PROVES DELIGHTFUL STORY

Genuine humor, realistic delineation of human nature and a pretty love story are revealed in "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford," a Cosmopolitan production for Paramount, which opened at the Arcade Theatre last night. The picture is an adaptation of the stage success by George M. Cohan, and is in every way a screen comedy of unusual quality.

In "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford" Frank Borzage, the director, makes secure his position as a master of characterization. The picture tells the story of the attempts of Wallingford and his partner, Daw, to defraud Wallingford citizens by means of fake stock transactions. Two girls win their hearts and their schemes prove to their surprise, to be extremely profitable for all concerned.

Whooping Cough. This is a very dangerous disease, particularly to children under five years of age, but when no narcotic, codine or other opiate is given, is easily cured by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Most people believe that it must run its course, not knowing that the time is very much shortened, and that there is little danger from the disease when this remedy is given. It has been used in many epidemics of whooping cough, with pronounced success. It is safe and pleasant to take.—Adv.

Wesley Ruggles can change from an artist into a merciless humorist at an instant's notice. He can drop his directorial air and play a boyish prank on some one with the greatest abandon and gusto.

Miss Dean was called on by the script to submit to having a bee, alleged to be stingerless, crawl across her upper lip for a close-up. A bee without a stinger shouldn't be such a bad fellow or such an experience intolerable.

AT SHERRY'S LAST DAY OF MAE MURRAY. "Peacock Alley" which yesterday opened at the Sherry Theatre, is one of the most delightful pictures of the season. It is a ravishing, dazzling Mae Murray presentation will all that magnificence and splendor which mark the blonde star's offerings on the screen. It is gorgeously costumed and excellently directed, the story running smoothly to its romantic conclusion.

It pictures the romance of a famed Parisian dancer who falls in love with a small town American youth and then finds that his home folks will not accept her because she has been a dancer.

er. The couple go to New York, but troubles come thick and fast upon the two who, for a while, find life a very drab affair.

As the dancer in this colorful production, Mae Murray scored with the finest bit of characterization she has ever done. She is supported by a notable cast headed by Monte Blue as the youthful husband of this screen favorite brings to the part all that genius for which he is noted. Others in the cast were Edmund Lowe, W. J. Ferguson, Anders Randall, William Tooker, Howard Lang, William Frederick, M. Durant and Jeffery Lewis.

"Peacock Alley" presented by Robert Z. Leonard, is by Edmund Goulding from a story by Ouida Bergere. It was directed by Robert Z. Leonard. Oliver T. Marsh was the photographer. It is released by Metro Pictures for Tiffany Productions, Inc.
