ROSOWORTH'S LATEST BRINGS THE SEA TO YOUR FEET

You can taste the salt of the sea, smell the breeze of the sea and feel the fragility of icebergs in "The Sea Lion," the character play Robert Rosoworth has brought to the screen and which is showing at the Star Theatre today and Sunday. If you're a dyed-in-the-wool fan wanting red blooded men, real action and unusual settings, here is your picture. It deals with whale hunting, mutinous crews and a tender dual love story, involving a father and daughter and the latter's suitor.

ELMER HAMMERSTEIN AT ARCADE SUNDAY

Elmer Hammerstein in a new Zealand picture, "Why Announce Your Marriage?" is announced as the featured attraction at the Arcade theatre Sunday only. Unlike most of the pictures in which this charming star has recently appeared, "Why Announce Your Marriage?" is a comedy of the lighter type which is said to afford the star new opportunities of which she makes the most at all times.

In the picture a notable supporting cast is seen with Niles Welsh at its head. Arthur Housman and Florence Hillings also have important parts and others in the cast are Frank Currier, Huntley Gordon, Marie Burke, Elizabeth Woodmore, James Harrison, and George Lessey.

A LAUREL, A SONG AND A THRILL

Are the fortunes promised on the bill at the Arcade theatre on Monday.

By Sykes and Sykes, an exceedingly clever young pantomime comedian and adept cellist and a charmingly pretty, shapely and attractive young lady in daring stunts on bicycles and motorcycles interspersed with much provoking comedy. This offering is more attractive than any other act of similar nature.

Lillian DeVore presents a new unusual offering under the title of "The Girl with the Voice," in songs and stories consisting of many new and popular songs, which is presented with every regard to wardrobe class and ability.

White and Hutton in the "Smiles of 1932," furnish many laughs with their not and acrobatic comedy that is far away from anything yet seen here.

Dawn and Francis, two bewitching young and pretty females in a telephonian novelty in lovely costumes from classic to jazz start the show in a lively manner.

Wanda Hawley's latest star picture "Robbed Hair," which is on view at the Arcade theatre, in addition to the vaudeville bill, is decidedly a picture with not one, but several punchlines. It is packed with laughs and the love interest is quite absorbing. It is a picture that will please the most jaded film fan and the various characterizations are in capable hands.

leggers and their apprehension and punishment, fill the newspapers. The liquor question is still one of the grave problems of the day. It affords many opportunities for dramatic treatment, and one of the best of these is disclosed in "Over the Border," the Pearly Stanlaw Paramount production featuring Betty Compton and Tom Moore.

Betty Compton, as the daughter of the man who smuggles liquor in wholesale quantities across the United States-Canadian boundary line, and the sweetheart of a Royal Mounted policeman charged with enforcing the law, has a fine emotional role, while the part opposite her, that of a mounted policeman, is ably played by Tom Moore. The picture was taken in the mountains, amid the snows, and is pictorially very beautiful. Individually, every scene is a gem, and in its selection for inclusion in the picture, marks the artistic sense which made Pearly Stanlaw a power in the picture world before becoming a director. The supporting company is wholly adequate.

Also showing "A Dog-Gone Mix-Up," two reel comedy.

"THE FIGHTING FOOL" AT SHIRREYS TODAY ONLY

One of the fastest Westerns yet produced by Prairie Productions, Dick Hutton is the leading player. Hutton has appeared in other Prairie Productions, namely, "Fearless Dick," and "The Hellhound of the West."

All of the Prairie Productions have been noted for the swiftness of the action, but it is claimed for "The Fighting Fool," that it is the fastest of the series made to date. Hutton will be remembered as a Vitaphone player, appearing later in the Allan Dwan production of "The Heart of a Fool." He played also in several pictures with Texas Guinan in Western stories.

"The Fighting Fool," gains its title through the fights which Hutton stages. It is said to have more lights to the five reels than any Western made in a long time. In the supporting cast is Luella du Bois, a charming Wyoming girl, a real Western type. Also showing "Movie Chats" and "Matt and Jeff."

CAMERA MEN DEFY DEATH

"Powder River," to be shown at the Star theatre, under the auspices of La Grande Post No. 43, on next Thursday.

These pictures are the only official films of the holocaust that shook civilization and only allowed to be shown the public under the auspices of a veteran organization. They are the complete record of the 91st, 89th, 12nd, 56th, 2nd and 1st Divisions of the United States army in France.

The camera men were members of the Signal Corps and during the taking, the fellows worked under conditions of terror. Whilst the camera quietly clicked, the machine guns and rifle fire played a mad staccato and overhead the big Berthas belched forth a tone of thunder as liquid fire poured forth death and devastation on Flanders field as shrapnel sang a song of fate. These fearless young Yanks helped record the deeds that made it possible to say "they shall not pass."

The battlefields where bloody action raged for days are not the only features of the films—there
