HEAVY STORMS NEAR LOSTINE

LOSTINE, June 12.—Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Poley and daughter Margaret, and Mrs. W. P. Robinson and children were Wallowa visitors Sunday afternoon taking down Rev. Pointer for his appointment three Sunday evening. Mr. Poley's little girl had not been feeling well for several days and had a breaking out of some kind so they took her to the doctor while in Wallowa and he told them it was smallpox. She had been playing with other children and had been to Sunday school that morning so a good many have been exposed to it. The Wallowa doctor and the local doctor were busy vaccinating on Monday and it was found that some of Floyd Hammoeks children were just getting over it, being sick with it while their mother was away, but not being very sick. No one thought of it being smallpox. Mrs. Prout and her two children were at the Hammoek home during Mrs. Hammoek's absence. Mrs. Prout caring for her sister's family while she was away and her little children had it too. S. L. Magill was called to Kansas City last Saturday to assist in bringing his brother George out here for the summer to recuperate from a nervous breakdown which he has been suffering from for several months. He has wired back his brother is able to stand the trip and they expect to arrive the last of this week. Mrs. H. S. Magill of Washington, D. C., is coming along to assist in caring for her brother-in-law and to visit this summer with her sister, Mrs. S. L. Magill.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Scott announce the marriage of her sister, Amanda V. Hagen, to Alden L. Parsons of La Grande on Saturday, June 3rd, 1922. Miss Hagen has been a teacher of the Lostine 7th and 8th grades for several years and her pupils hated to part with her but with her many other friends, wish them a long and happy married life. The bride is also a sister of Mrs. Edgar Hook of Wallowa, and the groom is a brother of Lefty Parsons, who runs the Lostine garage.

Fred Edwards has his radio phone installed now in the rear of the postoffice with the poles and aerial wires running from the M. Crow and company store to the drug store roof. This radio phone was made to order for Mr. Edwards by A. M. Hesecock of Enterprise and was installed last Saturday. It is some what larger than the regulation size Mr. Hesecock has been making, but Mr. Edwards had ordered a larger one than this and only received part of his equipment, so Mr. Hesecock bought what he had and made this one according to Mr. Edwards' specifications. It is in good working order. Mr. Edwards and several other men were able to hear conversations and music from San Francisco Monday evening and expected to hear a 60-piece orchestra from Portland Tuesday evening but the electric storm prevailed.

Dick Cook had a sudden attack of heart trouble on Monday after arriving home from La Grande, where he had gone on Saturday for treatment for his eyes. He fell unconscious on the porch of his home. Mrs. Cook worked with him

...which he recovered from. He was not fully recovered from the attack yet, but is much better.

Mrs. E. G. Seaman and sister, Miss Bertha Ely, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Allen were Enterprise visitors on Wednesday.

Mrs. Leander McCubbin and daughter Birdie, and son Guy, were here on Decoration day from their home in Enterprise.

Mrs. Floyd Hammoek returned last week from attending the grand lodge of the Rebekahs at Eugene and visiting in several other places in western Oregon.

E. L. Rucker moved his farming outfit and crew to the hills the first of the week to begin summer fallowing on his ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Ott of Enterprise are visiting his aunt, Mrs. E. L. Rucker this week.

Sheep shearers are here and the shearing is now on up the canyon where the various bands of sheep are assembled.

Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Courtney and Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Moody picniced at the Pole Bridge last Sunday.

PIRATES WIN FROM ELGIN; CLOSE GAME

The Elginites, Cove slaughtered the Haines team by an overwhelming score. And Union lost to Baker 10 to 16 after having the game won in the eighth with the score 10 to 6 in the Boosters favor. But the Colts took advantage of a bag of errors and drove in 10 runs in the last two innings while Union failed to score.

From the results of yesterday's contests it appears that the three first division teams will be Cove, La Grande and Elgin. Baker, although tied with the Pirates for second place, are not playing a fast enough brand of ball to merit
