The game was rather slow with a few three base hits and some spectacular plays sprinkled in that helped keep interest alive. The first team used only some talent for this game, and by White not being in the box Haines had a better chance to run up a score than they did in the game at Haines. Union took an early lead and maintained it during the entire game although Haines several times had all the chances to challenge Union's lead. The game was a tie. Union used two pitchers during the game and so did Haines, although his first pitcher, a lad only 18 years old, was in the box most of the time and pitched some nice ball for a boy of his age. Only a small crowd came out to see the game.
