CLERKS OBJECT TO LARGE FEES

Railroads Ask Employes to Take Slash in Salaries But Pile up More Hospital Fees.

Just at the time when railway clerks, station workers and other employes of the O.-W. R. & N. started to compute the amount of reduction which would affect them, under the general wage slash July 1, another notice came along a few days ago informing them of an increase in railway hospital dues which has started a general undertone of complaint within the ranks.

The notice of the increase in hospital due was brief. It said that 25 cents would be collected from each employe monthly beginning July 1 because the hospital fund was depleted. This is an addition to the 50 cents per month already paid by each employe.

With approximately 9000 employes in the service of the O.-W. R. & N. this means a total of $81,000 per year for hospital expense, an increase of $27,000. This means $3 from each employe annually.

The chief basis of complaint by the employes is that they were not consulted when the increase in dues was proposed and they consider such an act upon the part of their employers similar to an ultimatum on their part that they intend to quit work a few minutes earlier each day.

Another general complaint is that despite the fact that their wages should be cut because the cost of living had been declared lower, that hospital expenses should be growing higher. The general safety bureau of the O.-W. reports accidents on the decline from last year so that the employes point out that this cannot be a factor in the increased rates.

The clerks' union is considering a complaint and a request for readjustment of the hospital fund.

CHIMNEY SPARK STARTED FIRE

Destruction of Town of Monument Due to Lone Spark Falling on Store Building.

HAMILTON, Ore., June 29.—As a result of a spark falling from the chimney of the Murphy store building yesterday the whole town of Monument was burned by a conflagration which made hundreds of people homeless. The fire started about 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon and burned all night, destroying many fine buildings in the business district and laying almost the whole town in ashes.

The Murphy building was the first to catch fire and the flames spread from this structure throughout the whole town. The upper floor of the building was occupied by Roy Twomby and family. Mrs. Twomby was confined to her bed with a three days old baby who were rescued from the burning building after frantic attempts by brave citizens. As they carried the woman and the child out of the burning structure the framework of the building crashed to the ground. The heat was intense.

The fire spread north from this building to the Semis Hall and the Baptist church, both structures being burned to the ground. It then took a southward course to U. S. Commissioner Keeney's office and residence. Here the fire was checked after desperate efforts by the citizens to save the town.

Owing to a new coat of paint and many large shade trees around the Jenks property and hotel these structures were saved. The fire spread north from the Semis Hall and Baptist church to the blacksmith shop and Masonic Hall, where the wind changed to the northeast.

The W. P. Hamilton store then caught fire on the east side of Main street and all of his warehouses and large stock of general merchandise, which was only partly insured, was lost in the conflagration. The W. T. Hamilton residence adjoining was saved from the terrific heat and flames.

The Settle building, Semis store, Pastime and many residences in that section of the town were all destroyed by the flames. The postoffice and the Cooler and Merrill residences which were in the path of the flames were saved owing to the protection by the Cooler and Merrill irrigation plant, which kept the buildings in that section of town moist with water.
