VIOLA DANA TO BE SEEN IN "SEEING'S BELIEVING"

When Viola Dana, the fascinating Metro star, comes to the Sherry Theatre today, in her new picture called "Seeing's Believing," she will appear in a role that exactly suits her pliant, charming personality. It is just the type of part that Miss Dana plays so well, and her many friends will be delighted with her acting in this new comedy-drama.

Miss Dana enacts the role of Diana Webster, a millionnaire orphan. Diana and her aunt's sister are obliged to pose as married when, on their way back to the city, they are obliged to put up at the town's only hotel. A few days later, when she returns to her home, she finds a friend of her brother who had been a guest at the hotel when she had stopped there. She informs him that she is not married, but before she has a chance to explain further, he tells her that he will safeguard her "secret." As far as he is concerned, "seeing's believing."

How Diana plans to involve him in an equally compromising situation and how she is brought into a serious predicament when the actors she employs prove to be professional blackmailers, forms a highly exciting play of laughter, love and thrills.

"Seeing's Believing," a Harry Beaumont production released by Metro, was adapted by Edith Kennedy from a story by Rex Taylor. It was photographed by John Arnold. A. F. Mantz was technical director.

Also showing a comedy.

"MAN TO MAN" SOON TO BE SHOWN AT STAR THEATRE.

"Man to Man" is the promising title of the Universal-Jewel attraction coming to the Star Theatre Friday.

It is a startling vehicle for Harry Carey, filmed with elaborate attention to the thrill qualities a Western story should provide.

A cattle stampede of five thousand head ought to furnish a kick for the jaded spectator. The Agoutie ranch, a cattle grazing kingdom of great acreage near Universal City, California, was the scene of the stampede. The fenceless areas around Benson, Arizona, furnished a location for other thrilling scenes.

Opposite Harry Carey, Lillian Rich is given an opportunity to show whether or not British musical comedy stars make good heroines for photodramas. She has only been in pictures two years, but her beauty and sweetness of personality have already won her the highest esteem.

Harold Godwin, formerly a Fox star, Charles Lemoyne, Willis Roberts, May Giraci and Alfred Allen handle the principal supporting parts.

If the direction could be placed better than Stuart Pritchard's, it is difficult to say whose fault it is. For Pritchard was the director of "Conflict," the Universal-Jewel attraction starring Priscilla Dean, which has had quite a vogue in the leading theatres of the country.

Jackson Gregory's widely read novel, "Man to Man," gave the plot to the newest Carey picture.

RAY'S CORKING COMEDY DOMINATES "R. S. V. P."

Corking comedy is the keynote of "R. S. V. P.," the latest First National attraction starring Charles Ray, which comes to the Arcade Theatre today and Wednesday.

The star, who was a gridiron warrior, pugilist and bush leaguer, has evidenced a versatility that places him in the front ranks of screen actors, again demonstrating his ready facility to adapt himself to a new role in the ease with which he takes the part of Richard Morgan, struggling artist with rich relatives who forsakes luxuries for the sake of art.

It can readily be believed that out of such a character Ray gets as much humor as anyone could. He hits the high spot with his chum, Benny Field, played by Harry Myers, when they array themselves for a formal function with the various appendages of one dress suit between them. It is hardly to give explanations, as while Benny is taking his turn during downstairs the star busies himself washing his hands whenever anyone happens to watch him.

It is the girl, played by Jean Calhoun, making her initial bow as leading woman for Ray, who solves the situation. When an irate father, boiling over at the manner in which his daughter has been imposed upon, seeks satisfaction from the irresponsible artists, she saves the situation and proves her love for the young man.

Here She Is—Good As New

"With cylinders REGROUND, AND FITTED WITH McQuay-Norris Piston Rings, Pistons and Pins, your motor is practically as good as new," says the cylinder regrinder.

Motorists are just beginning to realize how much added life, and mileage, can be given their cars by having cylinders reground, and new rings, pistons and pins installed. When these three vital units are renewed in a reground cylinder block, the result is practically a new motor.

In every section of the country are shops which specialize in regrounding—equipped with special tools and machinery for this work.

Your repairman can tell you whether new piston rings alone are all your motor needs to bring back its lost power, or whether the cylinders of your motor need regrounding and complete new ring, piston and pin equipment.

There is a McQuay-Norris Ring—made from Electric Iron—for every purpose and price; specially designed and manufactured for replacement purposes—each type designed for the particular motor it fits. All standard sizes and over-sizes.—An extract from McQuay-Norris, Saturday Evening Post.
