THEATRES

AT SHERRYS TODAY AND TOMORROW

Some years ago, Charles Kenyon, the author of "The Invisible Power," wrote a play called "Kindling" and about the same time Jack Barrymore was starring in a melodrama titled "Kick In." With the theme of "Kindling," the desire of a mother to see her unborn child escape from environment in which the parents were living, and the general idea of "Kick In," the efforts of an convict to stay straight while being hounded by the police, Mr. Kenyon has written a picture that should be pronounced entirely satisfactory. It is an exceedingly skillful piece of work, even if it does make most of the gangster members of the cast out of the police and the logic of the story to falter in places, especially on the tag when the police court records of hero and heroine are torn up on the sasse of an ordinary detective.

Housa Peters is the hero and Irene Rich is the heroine. Both are satisfactory but acting honors go to Sydney Atinsworth. Mr. Atinsworth makes much of a role that might have been just a part in the show. The story of "The Invisible Power" concerns the regeneration of a New York crook through love for a country school teacher whom he meets while on a "vacation" in the country, his fight to stay straight after his marriage to the girl, with the police trying to frame both husband and wife, in order to get them to give evidence that will lead to the recovery of a valuable necklace that has been stolen by the gang to which the husband formerly belonged. The wife attempts to break away from her husband and his friends that her unborn child might not be compelled to grow up in an atmosphere that she believes will make it becoming a crook, certain.

Also showing "Miracles of the Jungle."

CONSTANCE TALMADGE IN "WOMAN'S PLACE"

Where is woman's place? Is it at home? Or does she belong to business or in politics? Constance Talmadge's latest Associated First National starring vehicle will throw some humorous light on these questions for local photoplay fans.

It will be shown at the Arcade Theatre today, Friday and Saturday. And, fittingly enough, it is called "Woman's Place."

In this production Miss Talmadge as Josephine Gerson, a pretty society girl, gives politics a try-out, running for mayor of the town.

Of course, she gets into a maze of difficulties—leave that to Constance, she does it every time—and, according to all pre-release reports, provides one of the most entertaining pieces of comedy drama of her brilliant career.

John Emerson and Anita Loos wrote the story. They also wrote several other sparkling screen plays which have added to the fame and popularity of the sprightly Constance.

Victor Fleming directed the picture, and Oliver T. Marsh photographed it.

"MAN TO MAN," HARRY CAREY'S NEW PICTURE

A very spectacular punch is promised in the western photoplay coming to the Star Theatre commencing Friday, "Man to Man." It is a Universal Jewel production of the highest type, said to be elaborately staged, and certainly if they use five thousand head of cattle in one stampee scene it must be. Stuart Paton directed the picture. He also handled the megaphone in the making of "Conflict," the recent Universal-Jewel success which has gained a new army of fans for Priscilla Dean.

Jackson Gregory's novel of the West and the South Seas was adapted to the needs of Carey by George C. Hull. It embodies virile elements of masculine characterization for the star, who impersonates a derelict hound in the dyes of Texas, called home by the death of his father consequent to a series of thrilling adventures and his inheritance of a large Arizona ranch.

Lillian Rich has the leading feminine role, while Harold Goodwin, Alfred Allen, Charles LeMay, Willis Roberts, May Girard and others enact important parts.

For Starer, At the Madison Avenue branch library a little boy was looking for an interesting book and seemed to be having a hard time finding one that appealed to him. At last he brought to the desk "Wanted: A Husband," saying, "I guess I'll take this home to my sister. That's what she's looking for."—Indianapolis News.

OLD COSTUMES ARE LOCATED

(By Associated Press.) COPENHAGEN, July 6.—Men's costumes of the 13th and 14th centuries have been found in Greenland. They are in an excellent state of preservation, and resemble the clothes worn by Dante in the published picture of the Italian poet. They are not yet open to public view, but may be exhibited at some future date.

These interesting finds were made by Dr. Noerlund, a Danish scientist, while excavating in ancient burial grounds in the southwestern part of Greenland. They are the only existing specimens in the world of garments worn by men in the 13th and 14th centuries. Being deposited in the frozen earth for about 600 years, they have preserved them from destruction by moth and age. The garments are now in Copenhagen and deposited in the Danish collection in the Museum housed in the Princess's Palace.

Dr. Noerlund has found also several old wooden crosses in the frozen earth. They are covered with inscriptions in the Gothic runic script, and are considered by scientists to be of great historical value.

Here She Is—Good As New

"With cylinders REGROUND, AND FITTED WITH McQuay-Norris Piston Rings, Pistons and Pins, your motor is practically as good as new," says the cylinder regrinder. Motorists are just beginning to realize how much added life, and mileage, can be given their cars by having cylinders reground, and new rings, pistons and pins installed. When these three vital units are renewed in a reground cylinder block, the result is practically a new motor. In every section of the country are shops which specialize in regrinding—equipped with special tools and machinery for this work. Your repairman can tell you whether new piston rings alone are all your motor needs to bring back its lost power, or whether the cylinders of your motor need regrinding and complete new ring, piston and pin equipment. There is a McQuay-Norris Ring—made from Electric Iron—for every purpose and price; specially designed and manufactured for replacement purposes—each type designed for the particular motor it fits. All standard sizes and over-sizes.—An extract from McQuay-Norris, Saturday Evening Post. You can get quick service from us.
