Man to Man... The excitement of the story is paralleled only by the acting of the likable and dynamic Constance, who is given a part in which she fully revels.

Man to Man... "Woman's Place" is an original story by John Emerson and Anita Loos, and their sparkling humor and clever satire in a plot of wholesome interest are outstanding features of the production.

Man to Man... The work of the supporting cast is fine. Kenneth Harlan is Constance's leading man. The other principal players are Harland Short, Florence Short, the Borke, Margaret Linden and Jack Connolly.

Man to Man... "Woman's Place" is a First National attraction, directed by Victor Fleming. For clean comedy and wholesome romance, it is without a doubt one of the season's best screen offerings.

Man to Man... Charles Kenyon, famous author of "Kholoth" has given his talents to another story, "The Invisible Power," a crack story of original twists, that is most absorbingly interesting.

Man to Man... "The Invisible Power" is a crack story of original twists, that is most absorbingly interesting. House Peters is ideally cast as the hero, with Irene Ricks and Sydney Ainsworth supporting.
