AT SHERRY'S LAST DAY.

"The Golden Gift" is a thrilling drama of love and power, with Alice Lake, the youthful Metro star, as the central figure in this story of clash between love of a career and love of child.

The drama unfolded in "The Golden Gift" is one to appeal to every audience. It is the story of a young singer who, deserted by her husband, tries to support herself and her infant child by performing in a border cafe.

Others in the cast were Harriet Hammond, Joseph Swickard, Bridgetta Clark, Louis Dumar, Geoffrey Webb and Camilla Clark.

"The Golden Gift" is a Maxwell Kapp production for Metro of a story by Florence Heim and photographed by Joseph Boyle. The art direction was by Joseph Calder.

Also showing a two-reel comedy, QUEER SCENE PICTURED IN "THREE LIVE GHOSTS."

A wave of excitement recently agitated the busiest thoroughfare of London when a burly policeman held up the traffic to allow the passage of an aristocratic-looking gentleman, immaculately tailored wearing the latest thing in expensive baby carriages...

At the same moment two cameras which had been taking a record of this unusual scene from the inside of a covered motor lorry ceased to grind, and George Fitzmaurice, famous Paramount producer, congratulated himself on having successfully snapped a particularly effective and difficult "shot."

The episode showed Cecil Chadwick in "impersonation of 'Spooky' in 'Three Live Ghosts' a Paramount picture which will be shown at the Avoca Theatre today and Tuesday. Anna Q. Nilsson and Norman Kerry are the featured players.

A one-reel Harold Lloyd comedy is also being shown.

MUSICAL FARCE COMEDY TO BE REPEATED TONIGHT.

"Abie the Pawnbroker," a musical farce comedy, resulted in laughs aplenty at The Gardens last night and will be repeated again this evening. The soloists were especially good last night.

Tuesday and Wednesday the attraction will be "Watch Your Step."

WOOD SPLINTER CAUSES DEATH

(By Associated Press) STOCKHOLM, July 17.—A splinter of wood in one eye caused the death of Dr. Wilfrid Kapp, the American born German junker who tried to overthrow the German republic government about two years ago, and who died recently in Germany.

Dr. Kapp, who was residing in Sweden at the time of his injury, neglected it, and when at last he consulted a special examination of the affected optic showed that a malignant cancer had developed.

The injured eye was removed but the cancer persisted and when Dr. Kapp returned to Germany he was instantly arrested only to be taken to the hospital where he died.

When Dr. Kapp's intended coup d'etat failed, he secured a false passport, fled to Sweden by airplane, and won the government's permission to remain in the country on the ground that he was a political refugee.

He was with his son and daughter, and the Kapp family settled on a beautiful country estate at Halleks. Here they spent nearly two years, undisturbed by the post-war crisis in world politics.

The Kapp family lived simply and unostentatiously in Halleks. Mrs. Kapp did her own house work while Dr. Kapp attended to the outdoor duties of the household.

Like his former imperial master, Dr. Kapp in his exile took up wood sawing and splitting, and it was while he was engaged in splitting wood for the kitchen range that he met with the injury that led to his death.

During his residence at Halleks, Dr. Kapp proved to be anything but the fire-eating Prussian junker he had been pictured. At one crucial point during the great war he challenged Chancellor Bethmann-Hollweg to a duel, and after peace was restored he planned to cross the unstable German socialist regime with typical Prussian ruthlessness.

He actually captured Berlin, drove the Ebert government to Dresden, and ruled over the German capital for five days. Kapp was accused of being reactionary, working for the ultimate restoration of the monarchy, but he always strongly denied this.

The Swedes of the Halleks community who had supported Dr. Kapp to be a future Prussian of the most obnoxious military type, found him to be courteous and charming old gentleman. He was kindly democratic and very social, frequently visiting the neighboring farms and chatting with the farmers and their workmen among whom he became very popular.

His tendency to mingle on terms of equality with all classes probably resulted from his early American training. Dr. Kapp having spent his early youth in New York City where he was born in 1852. The people who best knew Dr. Kapp in Sweden describe him as a model neighbor and a genial gentleman.

LONDON, July 17.—Britain is declared again to be in dire peril. She is described as in a dangerous state of unpreparedness against an air attack. Experts contend that London could be laid in ruins from the air within 24 hours.

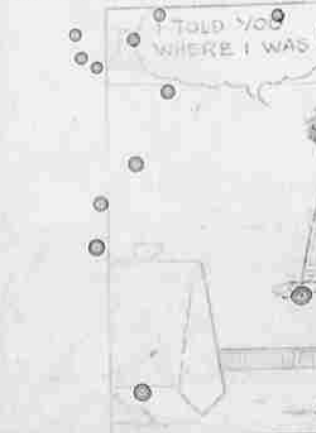

Many facts and figures are given by various newspapers to prove it. Britain and Londoners especially are told they should be so badly scared they wouldn't sleep soundly in their beds again until something was done to get matters right.

But there may be serious trouble brewing for the government over the stage of the country's air defenses. Major General Seely, started the trouble as he made it clear in parliament as to how the country was fixed for airplanes in case of war.

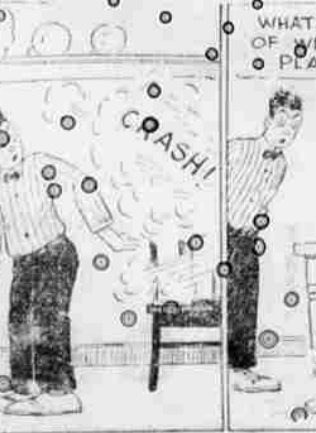

The reply of Captain Guet, the air minister, was not exactly calculated to make anxious people feel comfortable. He said that while the country in 1920 had 106 anti-aircraft guns, it now has 100, of which 83 and those were of 28 different types.

This year there are only 18 machines actually flying in regular service. The air league of the British Chamber of Commerce says that the air force what the navy has done for
