lots, contemplating to buy other property near their lots to have a home to move into when their household goods arrived.

Rev. W. F. Shields and Mrs. Shields were accompanied to Lostine for service last Sunday evening by Mr. Shields' sisters, Mrs. Marshall and Miss Haynes and niece, Miss Mary Brown, who came to Wallowa last week to visit for a few weeks. They are from western Pennsylvania and were eleven days on the way touring Yellowstone park and also going to Seattle and Portland before coming here.

Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Duncan came in last week to pack up their household goods to move back to St. Anthony, Idaho, where Mr. Duncan came from to Lostine several years ago. He had to do as a good many farmers and business men have had to do who sold out during high prices and the new owners were not able to meet their obligations during the readjustment period and had to turn the store back to Mr. Duncan again although Mr. Duncan had been desirous of locating in Oregon some where when he sold his Lostine store to Mr. Kay this spring.

O. J. Poley took Mr. Holmes to Austin last week to see Mr. Holmes' sister, who was in a critical condition in a hospital there, after an operation. They returned home the last of the week and reported the sister improved somewhat.

Dr. Oftedal, our new local doctor, made a trip to Wallowa Lake recently and says Wallowa County cannot be beat for scenery anywhere in the world. He has traveled extensively, especially in Norway and Switzerland and thinks this country surpasses even that land of the Alps which attracts so many tourists from America. He has not yet had the opportunity to go into the higher mountains and see the many beautiful lakes farther up but hopes to before the summer passes. We sometimes wonder why Uncle Sam does not make a national park of the Wallowa mountains for it surely has as many attractions, if not more than Glacier National park in Montana; but we will leave it to the tourists who come in here to tell the world about what this land offers in scenic attractions and climate.

The state highway commissioners and Gov. Olcott and party who were in Lostine last Thursday on a tour of inspection had many good things to say of this section of the state which was a revelation to most of the party since it was their first trip into the county. They were especially enthusiastic about the scenic attractions in this high mountain valley and said when the highway was completed we would see such a throng of tourists coming in here for their vacation we would want to move back of the highway for safety. Mr. Barrett is quoted as saying he had been a resident of Oregon 39 years but never knew there was such a country as this up here and he intends to come again for a longer stay. The gap in the highway between here and Enterprise is to be completed this summer since the county courts bid of $110,000 was accepted by the commission, which will include the erection of three steel bridges as well as the grading and surfacing of the highway. J. M. Sloane has been in from La Grande to view the surveyed road contemplating a bid on some of the work. The highway commissioners were very favorably impressed also with the need of a highway from this valley through Flora to Asotin, Wash., and Lewiston, Ida., thereby giving a through route for tourists this way from Spokane on out through La Grande to Baker, Huntington and Boise, east, or Pendleton to Portland, west from La Grande. A car recently made the trip to Spokane under present conditions from Trout creek near Enterprise making the distance one way from 6 a. m. to 7 p. m. which shows the time for the trip by auto could be much reduced if a highway was completed all the way.

LOSTINE FIRE IS PUT OUT

LOSTINE, July 29.—(Special)—Walter Quessenberry came in from La Grande Sunday for a visit with his family.

Georgia Childers visited her mother, Mrs. Oliver Woodson, on Sunday. She is working at Litches near Enterprise.

A deer was found dying in an irrigation ditch near G. P. Holmes' place up the canyon on July 16th. It is supposed it broke its neck in jumping a fence nearby.

Miss Leona Wart, daughter of Geo. Wart, was thrown from a run-away horse last Monday and sustained many bad bruises but no bones were broken. The horse became unmanageable when a car came up behind to pass on the highway and ran breaking the saddle strap also throat latch to bridle and after she was thrown the horse stumbled and fell across her striking her in the back with its knee. Marion Hunter was riding the same horse behind the saddle and did not fall off until the horse fell which threw her clear of the mix up. She suffered slight bruises. A truck load of campers came along and picked the girls up, making a bed for them of their bedding and they were brought into town. The doctor was called and gave assistance and the young lady is gradually getting better.

Mr. Fleshman of Promise was delivering cherries in Lostine Wednesday. He had a wagon load and was selling them quite reasonable. Bings, Lamberts and Royal Annes for 40 cents a gallon. The same day Lloyd Evans delivered Bing cherries here from the slope west of town. He was selling them at seven cents a pound which averaged about 40 cents a gallon.

Judd Cooks from up the canyon, and J. R. Gillispie, just below town, have been supplying the people with red raspberries the past week. The climate of Oregon seems adapted to some of these small fruits, giving them an excellent flavor not found in the fruit of the hotter zones of the country.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Johnson were Enterprise visitors on Thursday.

Miss Tillie Hagen, who taught school in La Grande last winter and who is spending her vacation here with her sister, Mrs. Edgar Marvin, has taken a position in Robinson's Drug store for a few weeks to help out during the rush of the ice cream season. Miss May Carlson, who was assisting there, left for her home in Zumwalt last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hall and Mrs. Nellie Wamock went to Promise last week to visit relatives and seek the lucious huckleberry. They returned home Saturday.

Mrs. Pearl Poulson and children and Mrs. Joe Thompson went to Promise Sunday to visit and pick huckleberries.

Mr. Renfrow's daughter, of Evans, broke her arm last Friday when she attempted to crank her car, preparatory to making a trip to Enterprise.

Mrs. M. R. Goodman, who has been here visiting her sons, Clayton and R. V. Goodman and family, went to Enterprise last week for a visit with her brothers, A. M. and C. Wagner who have other relatives visiting them from Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Gaston and daughter, Miss Mina Wamock, came in from Echo last week to remain. They were former residents of Lostine before moving to Echo several years ago. Mr. Gaston was in this spring and planted garden on their

Boy Scouts

Sam Cochran and George Ruckman, two Scouts of troop one, were very successful in the sale of chautauqua tickets. Sam sold one hundred and twenty-two dollars worth and George, while not so fortunate, was able to dispose of about thirty dollars worth.

The Scout leaders met in council Wednesday night to make the final plans for the camp. Mr. Stoddard of troop three and Mr. Hogan of troop two may not be able to go on the trip, but are going to do their best to get away. They are both keenly interested, and anxious to be with their boys. It is hoped that Mr. [illegible] of the Presbyterian church can be induced to go, as he has had a good deal of experience in boys' work.

New recruits are coming in so swiftly that it will soon be necessary to organize a new troop. This will be the fourth troop of La Grande and will make a total of one hundred and twenty-five boys in the scout movement. The new scoutmaster has not been selected but Commissioner Fryar has in mind a man who has had much experience in boys' work and will be able to do splendid work in handling this troop.
