ENGLAND TO INDIA—$300

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, Aug. 7. (By Mail.)—Trips to India by air in three days, at a cost of $300 first-class and $175 second-class, may soon be offered British travelers. A number of large technical corporations have a proposal to the government to run a mail and passenger service from London to Bombay. The airships would have a capacity of 5,000,000 cubic feet, and would be capable of flying at 80 miles an hour with 200 passengers.

The proposal has been put forward in order to develop the communications of the British Empire in speed and cheapness, and thereby assist the developments of trade. No promotion profits would be taken by any party, and all the promoters ask is a subsidy from the government sufficient to pay the public investor a dividend of four and one-half per cent.

KITCHEN TELLS OF TRIP EAST

Mooseheart Described as the Most Wonderful Institution of its Kind in Whole World.

R. J. Kitchen, who with his daughter Miss Thelma left for the east several days ago to attend the Moose convention at Mooseheart, writes of his trip to the Evening Observer as follows:

"We left La Grande Monday night on No. 18 and arrived in Chicago Thursday noon—just two and one-half days—the fastest time I ever made the trip to Chicago.

"Nothing unusual on the trip and one would never know a railroad strike was in progress excepting that at every bridge there were placed one or two guards.

"I never saw crops in finer condition at this time of year. All through Nebraska, Iowa, and Illinois the crops are enormous—better than they have been for years.

"Say! But it was hot when we arrived in Chicago, but a rainstorm relieved the conditions Friday so we are not suffering from heat today. Give me the good old Grand Rapids climate, where you don't feel like you had been in bathing with your clothes on when you get up in the morning. That's the way one feels here.

"We visited with relatives in Gary, Indiana, until Sunday morning. Gary is now a city of 65,000. When I was young I taught school where the city stands and could have bought the whole townsite for one year's salary. Now there are the broad streets, beautiful residences, district the model school system and the greatest steel mills in the world. The mills extend along the lake front for seven miles.

"Just previous to our leaving Gary Sunday morning for Mooseheart there was a serious wreck on the Michigan Central railway, caused by removal of spikes from ties, as shown by enclosed clipping. It is claimed the spikes were removed to wreck a passenger train which was due to arrive about this time. But the express train was late and preceded the passenger and suffered instead.

"We are making our headquarters at Aurora, Ill., about three miles from Mooseheart, as there are not sufficient accommodations to care for the large crowds which are in attendance at the convention. Delegates are here from every state in the Union and from Canada.

"Mooseheart is the most wonderful institution of its kind in the world. I can say this without any fear of contradiction. It is a wonder city—a miracle city—a city for the conservation of dependent children—a city of childhood.

"Mooseheart is a city located about forty miles from Chicago on a tract of the most valuable Illinois soil consisting of 10,000 acres. To tell you of the different buildings—the vocational training, the home life, the school life and all the phases connected with this wonderful institution would require a good-sized book.

"One can hardly believe this city of childhood would be built in so short a time, for ten years ago it was only a dream in the minds of such men as Jas. Davis, secretary of Labor, whose statue now adorns the beautiful campanile building just completed at Mooseheart. This institution is not of the mushroom kind, but one built on a sure and permanent foundation. This impression you get from seeing the beautiful buildings and knowing the manner in which the institution is governed and the great underlying principles—the motive power, if you please, which pushes it forward and keeps it going—namely, the service to humanity.

"Leaving the great city of Chicago with its mansions and hotels, its millionaires and paupers, its saints and sinners, in a few minutes you arrive at the City of Childhood, where you are inspired with the ideal "that real life consists after all in service to your fellow man."

"In viewing this city of childhood I call to mind the Bible story: When the Queen of Sheba had heard of the wisdom and riches of Solomon, she determined to visit him in person to ascertain the truth of the reports. After visiting Solomon and seeing his riches and learning of his wisdom, she exclaimed, "Not the half has been told." And so it is with Mooseheart.

If good people really understood this institution, I believe none would hesitate to become a member of the order, whose aim and ideal is the support and maintenance of Mooseheart.
