THEATRES

NO STUDIO SETS USED IN PICTURE NOW SHOWING AT SHERRY'S.

"The Shiek's Wife", the great French production that created a furor at the New York Strand will be shown at the Sherry Theatre for the last times today.

"The Shiek's Wife" was filmed entirely on the great deserts of Arabia under the direction of Henry Russell, author of the story. The leading roles including Marcel Vibert as the Shiek, Hadji Ben Khedim, and Emmy Lyon as the English girl who has married the Shiek are played by professional actors, but thousands of native Arabs were employed in the production. There are no studio sets—all the scenes, down to the interiors of the tent harems, were made on actual location. The home customs of the Arabs, their tent cities on the sands, their crude courts of justice, their marriage laws and customs—all are faithfully and truthfully portrayed. The story is one of pulsating, warm-blooded Oriental love and back of it all is the big theme—the question of inter-racial marriage.

Also showing "Why Change Your Mother-in-Law?" a two-reel comedy.

THRILLS APENY IN "AFTER THE SHOW"
The film fan who like an admixture of thrills, love, sentiment and drama in his picture fare, will not be disappointed with the menu provided for him by William deMille, Paramount producer, in his latest production, "After the Show," which comes to the Arcade theatre today.

The scene when Pop, the old stage door keeper, played by Charles Ogle, deliberately cuts his wrist by smashing a champagne bottle, in the hope that he may save his little ward Eileen from what he deems a harmful love affair, is intensely dramatic in its development. The blood transfusion that follows is eminently realistic and novel. The heart interest is compelling and the gay scenes lend spectacular value to the film.

LONDON CLIMATE HARD ON IMAGES

LONDON, Aug. 9. (By Mail).—The outer walls of the Houses of Parliament are crumbling. Hundreds of carven images, mostly of imaginary royal figures, have been unable to withstand the ravages of the weather, combined with the smoke-laden London atmosphere. They suffer also from the lack of respect shown them by hundreds of pigeons which roost on the eaves and sharpen their beaks on the noses of the kings.

"Sorely a day passed but a monarch's hand or the falls into Palace Yard. Not long ago a king's head was found in fragments on the terrace.

During the coming recess scaffolding will be erected and many workmen employed, at a cost of 11,000 pounds, picking off the loose bits. Thus may one man in a day uncover scores of kings.

Sir John Gilmour, who represents the government department, is of the opinion that none of the kings or other distinguished folk will be allowed to stick it out much longer on the outer walls of parliament. "I think the day will come before long," he says, "when all the statues will have to be taken away. The situation does not agree with them."

FANCY WORK SELLS EASILY

BROUSSA, Asia Minor, Aug. 2 (By Mail).—There has developed recently in the United States a large market for the native homespun cloths and embroideries of the little village of Dornitash, near Broussa.

The Dornitash patterns are absolutely unique, nothing of the kind being produced in any other part of the world. According to Miss Constance Shelton, of Louisville, Ky., an American relief worker who has had a large part in stimulating the output of the native workshops, the patterns are of Macedonian origin, having been imported into the Broussa district about 200 years ago. The work at the present time provides a livelihood for 700 Armenian and 200 Greek refugees.

JAPAN COTTON SPINNING DYING RECUPERATING DEATH LOSSES

Great Interest Evincing in Japanese Cotton Spinning Industry Due to Conditions in China.

(By Associated Press.) TOKIO, July 15.—(By Mail).—Great interest is being evincing in regard to the future of the cotton spinning industry in Japan owing to the rise in the cost of production and the development of cotton spinning in China, says Diamond, a financial newspaper. The remarkable development of spinning industry in Japan was mainly due to the cheap cost of labor and the demand in China but there are factors which have made the cotton spinning industry so prosperous are fast disappearing and grave fears are expressed in some quarters that the industry is threatened with a serious crisis.

There are three ways in which the cotton yarn turned out of the Japanese spinning mills is disposed of. Thirty to forty per cent is exported, a portion is manufactured into cotton cloths by the spinning mills themselves and exported and a greater portion is consumed by the weavers other than the spinning mills.

The output of yarn has been increasing since the withdrawal of the restriction in December last but this has not resulted in an increase of stock owing to an increased amount of exports as well as the consumption of yarn by the spinners for the manufacture of cotton cloths for export.

Exports of yarn dropped from 569,990 bales in 1914 to 292,260 bales in 1920. Still cotton yarn does not seem to show signs of over supply but it is quite possible that with the extension of producing capacity adopted by many mills and the establishment of new mills together with the fast increasing output of the spinning mills in China and the consequent falling off of demand for Japanese yarn time will come sooner or later when the spinning industry of Japan will suffer from a serious crisis.

HOUSING PROBLEM PERPLEXES. BEND, Ore., Aug. 28.—Bend's housing problem is the most acute that it has been since early in 1917, real estate men report, and new arrivals in the city register a fervent "amen," while numerous families remain in hotels for lack of a home, others who desire modern homes are forced to dwell in shacks, and a few tents are in use. The real estate men have no houses for rent. This condition has been particularly noticeable since the recent announcement of plans for building an addition to the Shovel-Hixon mill, bringing a large number of new families here.

The first hop contract in Yakima county this year has just been closed by Frank B. Clark, who has sold 16,000 pounds to the Seavey-Hell Hop company of Salem, Ore., at 13 cents a pound.
