

CLOSING OF PRIMARIES IN MICHIGAN

Aspirants for Various Political Offices Have Begun Final Campaign Grind that Will Terminate September 12; Interest Intense.

(By Associated Press.)
 DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 29.—Aspirants for various political offices have begun the long campaign grind that will reach a climax with the state-wide primary election, September 12.

The fight for the republican nomination for United States senator continues to hold the spotlight among Michigan electors due to the more important issue involved. This issue arises from the campaign of Senator Truman H. Newberry, his election and the seating of him by his colleagues at Washington. Although Mr. Newberry is not up for re-election, as he still has a part of his term to serve, the incidents surrounding his brief political career have been drawn into the campaign because Senator Charles E. Townsend strongly championed him in the senate.

The battle against Senator Townsend has become a "three against one" proposition, a trio of men seeking to displace him from the republican side. These three are Congressman Patrick H. Kelley, of Lansing; Former National Legion Commander, Major John G. Emery, of Grand Rapids, and State Senator Herbert F. Baker of Wadock.

Each of the senator's opponents is using "Newberryism" as one of the keynotes of his campaign, although Major Emery has confined most of his talk to a plea for a soldiers' bonus and other proposed legislation.

Congressman Kelley has been particularly loud in his denunciation of Senator Newberry and of Senator Townsend because of the latter's support of the junior senator. Mr. Baker, choice of the farmer-labor group within the republican party, has denounced "Newberryism" and demanded legislation favorable to laboring men in the cities and to the farmers.

The winner of the four-cornered race will be opposed during the election campaign by Woodbridge N. Ferris, former governor and one of the few democrats ever elected to the governorship.

Next in interest is the race for the republican nomination for governor. The incumbent, Alex J. Groesbeck, is opposed by Theodore M. Joslin, of Adrian, and Richard H. Fletcher, of Bay City. James B. Balch, former mayor of Kalamazoo, and Alvah M. Cummins of Lansing are the democratic candidates.

Governor Groesbeck's opponents in many cases have assailed his methods since he took office less than two years ago. These critics allege that the centralized state government plan, that he put in operation last year, has given him unwarranted powers.

The wet and dry issue, although it is likely to be brought up, probably will not be as big a part in the election as the voters at first were led to believe, according to students of the situation. Rumors persist, however, that one of the republican candidates will announce himself in favor of beer and wines before primary day. To date this rumor has not been confirmed.

COAL REPLACED BY FIREWOOD

(By Associated Press.)
 READING, Pa., Aug. 29.—The Berks County Conservation Association's campaign, urging throughout the county the use of timber of little marketable value to avert a possible fuel famine, has been endorsed by the state department of forestry at Harrisburg. The plan of the association to Berks land owners has already borne fruit and many householders have laid in a supply of wood. The association is posting placards throughout the county urging householders to use cord wood cut from such timber, in order to save coal for hospitals, schools, churches and industries.

fuel famine, has been endorsed by the state department of forestry at Harrisburg. The plan of the association to Berks land owners has already borne fruit and many householders have laid in a supply of wood. The association is posting placards throughout the county urging householders to use cord wood cut from such timber, in order to save coal for hospitals, schools, churches and industries.

Harvey F. Hoinley, president of the association, has received the following letter from Major R. V. Stuart, state commissioner of forestry:

"I think the Berks County Conservation Association's plan of calling the attention of the public to the availability of suitable wood, particularly blighted chestnut, for fuel as a means of averting distress this winter, is an excellent one. The department in turn is encouraging the use of chestnut on the state forests for this purpose. I believe the campaign will do much good, particularly in those sections of the state wherein it is feasible to use wood as fuel without a change in equipment. Further, to the extent to which blighted chestnut can be utilized, the owner and forest are benefited."

LABOR PARTY IS ORGANIZED

SALEM, Aug. 29.—The Industrial Labor party has been formally organized in the third congressional district at Oregon, comprising Multnomah county. Petitions for the purpose containing the required number of names were filed Saturday with Secretary of State Koser and the secretary has forwarded to officials of the party a quantity of nominating blanks.

Names representing at least 5 per cent of the total vote polled for congressman in the general election of November 9, 1919, were necessary on the petitions. These contained 3925 names, which were sufficient.

The central committee of the party is F. T. Johns, U. A. Upton, D. Berglund, H. Catching, J. R. Nasholin and M. O. Johns.

Any candidates for political office in Oregon who expect to file by party convention or assembly must, under the law, do so by September 12, this year, or in not less than fifty-five days before the election date, which falls on November 2.

The law provides also that any candidates coming out independently must do so in not less than forty days before the election day or not later than September 27.

KING KOAL

If you would go into a coal office and announce that you wanted to buy 100 tons of coal, you would expect special attention, wouldn't you?

Well, now, EVERY PERSON who comes into our office looks like a HUNDRED TON customer to us. HE IS. For when we sell him the first order, the good service, careful delivery and satisfactory coal that he gets will be apt to hold his trade and bring him back for the balance of the HUNDRED TONS, even if he only gets it a ton at a time.

We do not make enough profit on one ton or on one load to be indifferent as to where a customer gets his next supply. Therefore, we give him the quality and the service that make him want to buy his coal from us right along.

A Mississippi River pilot acknowledged that he did not know the location of the snags in the river but added, "I know where they AIN'T and that is where I run my boat." We do not claim to know the location of the snags and other impurities usually found in coal, but we know where they AIN'T and that is where we get our coal. If you find clinkers in OUR coal, phone us, call write or wire us immediately and we will buy them.
