OREGON LOOKS FOR FAST TEAM

Prospects in the U. of O. are Very Bright with Large Turnout Expected; Aggregation Nearly Same as Last Year.

(By Associated Press.)
EUGENE, Ore., Sept. 11.—University of Oregon expects this year to turn out the strongest football team it has had since the great Oregon eleven of several years ago which defeated the University of Pennsylvania and lost to Harvard by one point.

Last year the Oregon football machine was slow in getting up full steam but when it did start it went good and finished the year by defeating the champion Navy team at Honolulu 35 to 0. This year the same Oregon eleven, minus only four men, will take the field at, it is hoped, the same pace it was traveling at the end of last season.

Four good men are ready to step into the positions of the four veterans who will not be back. The men to go are "Spike" Leslie, Matt Howard, Bill Reinhart and Bart Loughlin.

Although practice will not start until September 15, under Pacific Coast Conference rules, experts already are predicting that Prince Callison will play center, Van der Abe, Spears and Bliss will be candidates for end posts, and Mautz, "Bud" Brown and Shields will be among the line candidates. Tarkenton, a backfield star on the freshman eleven of a year ago, will try for a varsity post this season.

Football chiefs are coming back to the campus to get ready for the season. Coach "Shy" Huntington, who has been guiding hunting parties in the Cascade mountains near here, will be back in a short time to join Bill Hayward, trainer, who has returned from California. Huntington is optimistic regarding the prospects.

Oregon has four games at home, the one on November 11 against Washington State being probably the hardest of the year. The other games are: September 30, against Pacific University; October 7, against Willamette University; and October 14 against the Multnomah club. The traditional battle against the Oregon Agricultural college this year will be played at Corvallis November 18. The team plays at Whitman college at Pendleton October 29, Idaho at Portland October 28 and the University of Washington at Seattle November 20.

WHEAT PRICES ARE LOWER

(By Associated Press.)
SPOKANE, Wash., Sept. 11.—Lower handling charges and corresponding higher net returns to the growers in the 1922-1923 marketing season are predicted by Walter J. Robinson, general manager of the Idaho-Washington Wheat Growers' association.

Mr. Robinson says that prices are running a few cents lower than in 1921. He adds, "The association is in a much better position to serve the growers during the coming year than it has been before. Its export wheat will be placed directly on European markets this year. During the coming year, I believe that we can materially reduce the association's expenses."

The final returns on the 1921 pool have not yet been announced, but the bulk of the money has already been paid to the growers. The clerical force is busy on the final adjustments.

The mill cannot grind with the water that is past. Also, thank goodness, last year's fires cannot burn up this year's coal.

MILTON-FREEWATER MERGER DISCUSSED

Milton and Freewater, according to a dispatch from Pendleton, may be united into one corporation. The decision was made last night and only awaits the official approval of the people of both towns. For many years the twin towns were separated by factional strife arising over the question of local option.

Milton was the original town and early in its history certain citizens left the town and located about two miles north, instituting a town called Freewater. Since that time the town has grown and the intervening space has been filled with residences really uniting the towns. Both towns are drawn from a populous section and have a combined population of 2,440.

Apple Harvest Underway

Although heavy picking has not commenced, the 1922 apple harvest in the vicinity of Hood River has been launched and the initial shipment of three carloads of Gravensteins to New York was made a few days ago, according to a Portland paper.

Attendant tendencies of storage concerns and raising of rates by water transportation concerns, are declared to be more serious than indication of a railroad tie-up. Intercoastal boat lines have announced an increase of from 40 to 50 cents a box. Canning interests are accused of taking advantage of the strike situation to lower their offers on Bartlett pears to $37.50 per ton.

Forest Funds Pro-Rated

A check amounting to $110,015.27 which will be pro-rated among the various counties of Oregon, based on the acreage of national forests, the money to be for the maintenance of public roads and schools has been received by the secretary of state. The money was received by the government from materials and sales of national forests.

BEAR'S OUTLOOK IS VERY GOOD

With Seventeen Lettermen Coming Back, the University of Montana Should Have Good Football Team.

(By Associated Press.)
MISSOULA, Mont., Sept. 11.—Seventeen letter men will be included in the group of candidates for the University of Montana football team who answer Head Coach Stewart's call for first practice of the season September 12. In addition to these veterans, a host of men who gained their first collegiate football experience as members of the Montana freshmen eleven last fall will be available for the varsity this season.

There will be at least one "M" player out for each position on the team. The letter men counted on for positions on the 1922 squad together with their positions are: guard, center; Dalby and Ramsey, guards; Captain Elliott and McGowan, tackles; Maden, Hooney, Straw and Carber, ends; Artois and Lambert, quarterback; Johnson, Plummer, Barry, Tanner and Kevaner, backfield.

Among the list of last year's freshman players who will be back are Astell, Blackburn, Brooks and Centerwall, guards; Bohm, Johnson, Dalby and Mandlin, tackles; Schaffer, center; Spencer and Coleman, ends; Deholl, quarterback; Johnson and O'Neill, halfbacks.

For several seasons the University of Montana has been handicapped by a small squad, but prospects for the 1922 season are much different in this respect. The freshman squad is expected to include from 50 to 60 players.

In addition to Head Coach Stewart, the coaching staff will consist of W. S. Schreiber, Adams and Weisell. Schreiber is a former player of Wisconsin and Adams and Weisell are former Montana players.

Speaking of the University of Montana's prospects for the 1922 season, George M. Yarwood, well known Pacific coast sports authority, says: "Not only will the squad be better this fall than it was last, but the coaching staff will be considerably strengthened over the personnel of last year. There will be ample veteran timber and a wealth of young material to select the team from giving Montana a better outlook for football than the institution has had in some years."

"In past seasons a few injuries, or a player or two falling down in reckless work and as a result becoming ineligible, hampered any prospect Montana may have had. The 1922 squad, however, is a question yet to be answered."

particular amount of speed in his sprint for the backfield, but with the weight and power available and the promise of a big squad for the coming season, Montana's prospects for a strong team are better than they have been for some years."

TOURISTS USE RADIO SET

(By Associated Press.)
WALLA WALLA, Wash., Sept. 11.—Radio in the home, why not on the trip, mused Mrs. M. B. Reilly of Chicago before starting on the trans-continental trip which brought her through Walla Walla recently. And so radio on the trip it became.

Mrs. Reilly purchased a receiving set and fitted it up in the rear of her car. The aerial is made of five strands of copper wire fastened to two cross pieces of bamboo and extending the length of the machine. The bamboo is fastened to poles, which in turn are fastened to the car when on the road or when not in use.

If used on the car the receiving set has a 200-mile radius. Set up other than the car, music being sent by radio 2000 miles away can be heard with ease.

When in Yellowstone National Park, Mrs. Reilly set up the outfit on the rim of the canyon and caught music being played in Chicago and San Francisco, as distinctly as if it were being played a block away. While the set can be used on the road, Mrs. Reilly prefers to use it at night when she has completed her run for the day. Then she listens to the music which she carries in a little magazine which she carries in her bag and the rest of the campers are entertained.

"There is no reason why we can't have some of the comforts of home on a camping trip," said Mrs. Reilly, "and a radio isn't hard to rig up. Besides, I wanted to show the men that there is no limit to a woman's resourcefulness."

FRUIT IS ABUNDANT

Fresh fruit is almost a glut on the market in the Rogue river valley, due to the fact that this section not only has the largest and finest fruit crop in years, but that the state and entire country seem to be likewise fortunate says a dispatch from Medford. In order to alleviate losses, business men will endeavor to secure a larger percentage of canning among home folks.

Ancient Glass Removed

For forty-four years five pieces of plate glass were a part of the front of the store of Burkhardt and Law of Albany, Oregon. Last week modern show windows replaced the relic of earlier days.

Manufactured in France, the glass was brought around Cape Horn in an old sailing vessel and when installed in Albany, was the largest in Oregon. The pieces were still serviceable despite their age.
