TEAMS WANT BEAR'S SCALP

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—Football squads of the Pacific Coast Conference universities and colleges most of them "pointed" at the University of California will host their first official practice tomorrow.

California has held the conference championship for two seasons and it is aim of every team on the Bear's schedule to inflict upon the Berkeley team the first defeat it has suffered since 1920.

From the University of Southern California campus in Los Angeles to Washington State College at Pullman, wherever the conference squads are gathered, they are pointing out that this will be the year to defeat California for the Bear's scalp. They say they have been wrecked by the loss of the 1921 line, from tackle to tackle.

California students themselves, however, are doing little worrying for they have faith in Andy Smith, their coach, and his power to train some of his extra backfield stars and second string men to hold down positions on the "Buck" Mailer, the All-American end in back.

In Captain Charlie Ebb, they point out, claiming that the veteran backfield men and ends will be strong enough to effect any scalp.

raw team and upon a brand new coaching system imported from Pittsburgh University. Since the days when the two played rugby, Stanford has not defeated California at football.

University of Southern California's "big game" of the year will be against California in Los Angeles and the Trojans want to send the Bears back with a trimming. Even Trojan supporters, however, doubt if this can be done this year, for U. S. C. lost several stars of the 1921 team, which failed to defeat the Bears.

INCREASE IN JAP BONDS

(By Associated Press.)
TOKIO, Aug. 18, (By Mail)—According to Mr. Kumura, vice-president of the Bank of Japan, bonds in possession of the Bank of Japan, have registered a striking increase in amount during the past few years. This is charged by the public as indirectly responsible for the inflation of currency, and therefore the abnormal level of prices. Authorities of the Bank of Japan, however, see no just cause for such complaints, the marked increase being chiefly in the amount of foreign loans in the bank's possession, and not the domestic bonds upon which depends the amount of the convertible notes to be issued.

During the past few years, the domestic bonds owned by the bank increased by forty million yen, whereas the foreign loans owned by the bank have grown by 180,000,000 yen during the same period. This phenomenon, increase in, according to Mr. Kumura, due to the fact that all foreign bonds which had been regarded as specie reserves abroad have been included in the loan bond account since the return of peace in view of the steady growth of specie reserves abroad since the outbreak of the late war.

Greatest Feat of All Time

Editorial from Detroit News

President David Friday of the Michigan Agricultural college, in an address to the farmers of Michigan confidently predicts a general readjustment. This accords with the records of history ever since history has dealt with the fluctuation of prices incident to great wars. It is not bad news that President Friday announces, but good news. It is comparable in every way to the promise of the Federal government a few years after the Civil war that specie payment would be resumed at the earliest possible date.

Resumption of specie payment was a difficult task and for a time it looked perilous because the people of the United States had no gold or silver money in circulation. All business was done with a paper currency, which had fluctuated from a value of only 25 cents on the dollar (in gold value) to about 89 cents. Speculators in money value were supposed to be hoarding this paper money for a further rise. The moment specie payment would be resumed it was feared that those speculators would make a raid on the national treasury with trucks full of paper bills to demand payment in gold. The government had by slow degrees accumulated $149,000,000 of gold, and it was feared that this would vanish in a day, and that the government would be immediately reduced to a paper currency without a dollar in gold with which to carry out its pledge of redemption.

It happened that the speculators were wiser than the statesmen who it came to money matters. A redemption of $149,000,000 would be but a small fraction of the outstanding currency and the withdrawal of the gold would immediately cause a disastrous decline in the value of all the outstanding currency remaining unredeemed. Nobody really wanted gold or silver dollars from the moment when a paper dollar would become of "bar value." When January 2, 1879, arrived, the first day of specie redemption, Treasurer Sherman was nervously apprehensive, but to his surprise the withdrawal of specie amounted to only $435,000, while people who had been hoarding gold passed more than $400,000 of it into the treasury in exchange for bills. The anticipated peril proved to be a false alarm.

The situation today is far more simple and easy to meet. There is no question as to the gold value of our outstanding currency. It has stood at par through all vicissitudes of national fortunes. There is no apprehension that there will be a run on the treasury for withdrawal of gold. The treasury is loaded up with an embarrassment of gold reserves far beyond any possible need of today in a declaration of the redemption of its money issues in par value of commodities, labor and services. But what has the apt to see the perfectly manifest fact? A still more difficult question is: Who has the power to make and enforce the decree?

In the day of despatch it would have been easy enough for the ruler of the nation to issue a decree that on and after January 1, 1922, all prices shall be asked in the status of prices which prevailed on January 1, 1914. On that date every service and every commodity had its recognized rating in the market quotations and in universal custom and usage throughout the nation. Perhaps nobody was quite satisfied with the price of whatever he had to sell, but it is seldom that anybody is quite satisfied. It is safe to say that everybody was better satisfied with his income and his general expenses, including taxes, than he is today.

At the present time we have a sort of highbrowedly attempt to scale down prices so as to bring the dollar part way back to its 1914 value in purchasing power of common necessities. But every such attempt creates violent disturbances because it works injustice to a certain group of citizens. The road, street railways, coal mines, and certain other public industries of public necessity have undertaken an arbitrary reduction of wages. This has provoked strikes involving heavy when the famous Gil Doble coached the sheep through season after season without defeat.

Many students think the team will be so good it will take the measure of the champion University of California eleven when the two meet here November 11. Last year at Berkeley California defeated the Purple and Gold eleven by more than seventy points in revenge for a score just about as large which was run up by Washington against California back in 1916.

Enoch Bagshaw, coach at the University, promises to send into the field a powerful line, work at only one of the ends. The backfield will not show the improvement this year that will be displayed in the line, for Ray Eekman and Harry Quass, stars of 1921, are gone.

Roy Patrie, a giant from Clarkston, will be one of the ends. The other has not yet been selected. At the tackle position, where the real strength will begin, will be Bill Grimm, once second All-American player, Ed. Kahn, powerful sophomore from Spokane, Telling, a "W" man, Amos Christies, captain of the Stanford University freshman team two years ago, or McMillan. Captain Bob Ingram probably will be one of the guards.

U. OF W. TEAM MUCH STRONGER

(By Associated Press)
Bagshaw Hopes to Bring Back Old Days when Gil Doble Mopped up Gridiron Opponents Year after Year.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 15.—Seventy-five per cent stronger than a year ago, the University of Washington football team will try this year to regain the place it held on the football map several years ago.

Mrs. L. J. Foote Reap the Reward of Perfect Health

Good Looks Follow Good Health
Mrs. L. J. Foote is over twenty years old since I first heard of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Golden Medical Discovery. It was after motherhood and I was simply a wreck. My strength was all gone. I never left my room and rarely went out for six months. This was my condition when I heard of Dr. Pierce's medicines. For several months I almost lived on the Favorite Prescription and the Golden Medical Discovery. I gradually gained in strength and spirits. To the health and strength-giving qualities of these remedies, I am sure I owe my life and present good health. It is a pleasure for me to give this endorsement and express my gratitude for the good I have received.

and either Jim Bryan or Ed Hall, veterans, the other, for center, there is Hank Hayes or Cliff Lauchorne, both letter men, but light. Chalmers Walters, dark horse from Everett, is also a candidate for center.

Bagshaw must develop a quarter back and is looking to last year's freshmen. Likely looking men are Walter Dally, brother of "Crum" Dally, ex-Washington star, Myron Hanley, brother of the Hanley boys famous in Washington State college gridiron history, or Fred Abel. In the halfback and fullback positions will be Johnny Wilson, Ray Hill,
