THEATRES

WILLIAM FOX DRAMA "SHAME" IS BOOKED HERE.

"Shame," the William Fox special production which enjoyed a spectacular run at a prominent Broadway theatre in New York, has been booked for the Star Theatre beginning Friday. It is said to be a most impressive picture.

The story deals with the life of a wealthy young man of San Francisco, who was born in a distant country, David Fielding is made to believe that his mother was a native woman and that he is a half-caste. The thought preys upon his mind until he is driven frantic. He takes his infant child and flees to the snow-fields of Alaska in his determination to shun mankind. Among his adventures there is a bare-handed fight with a wolf in his lonely cabin.

The mystery concerning his dread secret is cleared up in striking fashion. It is said.

The production was directed by Emmett J. Flynn, a young man who won fame by his direction of the William Fox special, "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," the Mark Twain classic. The cast of "Shame" is headed by John Gilbert, whose vivid characterization in the role of David Fielding resulted in his being promoted to stardom by Mr. Fox. Others in the cast are Rosemary Theby, Doris Pawn, William V. Mong and George Siegmann.

The action takes place in three countries, and the spectacular effects of the production are declared to be unsurpassed.

"KINDRED OF THE DUST" TELLS A GRAND LOVE STORY.

"The course of true love never runs smooth" is an adage which is exemplified in "Kindred of the Dust," an Associated First National attraction produced by Raoul A. Walsh from the novel by Peter B. Kyne, and which is being shown at the Arcade Theatre today, Friday and Saturday with Miriam Cooper in the leading feminine role.

Playing the role of "Nan of the Sawdust Pile," Miss Cooper gives a remarkable characterization of a poverty stricken maiden who is loved by the son of "The Laird," the millionaire lumberman.

Her grandfather, Caleb Brent, a retired petty officer of the American navy, through lack of money, had been forced to settle on some land made by the depositing of refuse from one of the lumberman's saw mills. It was while living in such squalid circumstances that Nan met young Donald McKay, and it was a case of love at first sight with each other.

But considerable opposition quickly developed. "The Laird" objected to his son marrying the girl, and Andrew Dancy, the general manager of the saw mill, had reasons of his own for trying his best to force the girl and her grandfather to move.

The only joy left to Nan was her voice. It was so pure that it enthralled all who heard it. Eventually Nan obtained the opportunity to go to the big city and cultivate her voice. There she married the singing instructor, but disillusionment came, and with it more trouble than she had ever anticipated.

She was on the verge of reaching the apex of her operatic career in New York when she learned that Donald was sick, and that his recovery depended on her presence.

The climax of this story is exceptionally strong and is a fitting finish to a highly dramatic story.

QUEER CHARACTERS AND LOVABLE ODITIES FOUND IN "THE PRODIGAL JUDGE."

"The Prodigal Judge," which will be shown at the Sherry Theatre today and tomorrow, is a play of queer characters and lovable oddities. Yancy, the tender-hearted mountaineer who has been to school "several times" when a boy, is played by Robert Mitchell; Mahaffy, the melancholy tippler, is in the hands of Ernest Torrence; the period is in the middle thirties, and the judge himself, who was a three-bottle man and proves a hero in the final reckoning, is in no less
