EPISCOPALIANS PRACTICING DIVINE HEALING

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Consideration at the Protestant Episcopal triennial general conference of divine healing, and the question of giving it official sanction as a part of church work, drew attention to the fact that several churches in the Chicago diocese already maintained classes in faith healing.

Among such churches are the Church of the Redeemer of which Rev. Dr. John Henry Hopkins is rector, and St. Chrysostom's, of which Rev. Dr. Norman O. Hutton is rector. The Rev. H. P. Pullin, assistant rector of St. Chrysostom, declared that the purpose of the class at this church was not to supplant the physician, but to co-operate with the physician by strengthening faith and mind.

"Our method," he said, "is that of James Hickson, the Anglican layman who conducted meetings of healing in Chicago a few years ago. It involves private prayer of intercession, meetings with prayer and the laying on of hands, and private conferences with the ill.

"The people of the parish are much interested with the work. I know of no miracles that have resulted from it, but I am satisfied that those who have come to these meetings for help have been generally strengthened. It is our endeavor to take their minds off their troubles and to make them realize that there is something higher than their minds which directs them."

"The question is not one of divine power, but of its application," said Rt. Rev. S. M. Griswold of Evanston, suffragan bishop of the Chicago diocese. "The report to the conference of the commission of the church which examined the matter was very thorough-going."

Many Women Attend.

(By Associated Press.)

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 28.—More than one-fourth of the delegates attending the triennial convention here of the Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity were women.

One of the leading figures of the convention was Miss Olive W. Dennis of Baltimore. Instead of designing hats she plans bridges, being a civil engineer, and one of the twelve women in the United States actively following that profession. She is employed in the head office of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad.

Judge Florence E. Allen of Cleveland was another of the women delegates.

BOY SCOUT NOTES.

The fourth troop of the La Grande Boy Scouts will be organized the latter part of the week at the Y. M. C. A. It is to be an older boys troop, and will be under the personal charge of Mr. Pryke, with Howard Beatty as assistant leader.

The scouts have received two challenges to play football, one from Alicel and the other from Imbler. The date for these games has not been set, but will be discussed by the team, and the announcement will be made as soon as it is definitely decided. The boys are anxious to revenge themselves for the drubbing the Imbler juveniles gave them in baseball, so the Imbler-La Grande game ought to be a good one.

Troop two held its first meeting last Friday. They discontinued meetings before summer camp. Mr. Hugan, the scoutmaster, says that this troop, after complete reorganization, will be ready to start the Fall program.

Troop one will stage an initiation Thursday, October 5. There are two boys who transferred to the troop, as well as several new ones. The initiation will be followed by a feed at the Y. M. C. A.

The Assistant Scoutmaster of troop three, Jeff Bean, says that he has been too busy to keep in close touch with the troop during the summer, as he was working, but now he expects to swing into line again and help Mr. Stoddard make troop three the crack troop of La Grande.

A Perfect Companion for Work or Play

The 1923 Six Cylinder Sport Touring—$1675

Equally suited to the rigors of everyday business driving and to carefree outing tours and social motoring, the new six cylinder sport touring combines the well known Buick sturdiness and dependability with a snappiness and sparkling beauty that mark it as a distinctively smart motor car.

Rich, contrasting colors, set off with brightly polished nickel radiator and fittings heighten the sweeping lines of the long wheelbase and body. The roomy seats are upholstered in fine embossed leather, and every driving and riding comfort and facility are provided. Clock, speedometer, cigar lighter, gasoline and oil gauges, lighting and ignition switches and ammeter, long, nickeled gear shift lever, windshield wiper and rear vision mirror are among the convenient details that are standard equipment.

New rear spring suspension, and snubbers on the front springs have brought greater riding ease while the famous Buick Valve-in-Head engine has been so refined as to increase its traditional power and dependability.
