THEATRES

"ARABIAN LOVE" IS A DELIGHTFUL PICTURE.

"Arabian Love," the William Fox picture which was shown for the first time yesterday at the Star Theatre with John Gilbert as the star, is a delightful reflection of the picturesque side of desert life.

There is always a charm about the desert, especially the African desert. We always admire the man who takes up the challenge which the sandy wastes are ever issuing—who battles with their heat and storms and who conquers them. The men who live on the desert have for us in the cities a keen and abiding interest.

"Arabian Love" combines with the charm of the desert a thrilling story of outlaws and love. The hero (John Gilbert) is forced to take refuge with a sheik's band because of the death of a diplomat in Algiers. Gilbert, as Norman Stone, is accused of murdering the man. This diplomat's bride (Barbara Bedford) is on her way back across the desert to her husband after a visit to her mother, when she is captured by the sheik's bandits. There is a struggle for the girl until Stone wins her by a throw of the dice. He helps her escape.

Convinced, the girl's love for Stone returns and together they decide to leave the scene of their troubles and go to America, "the land of beginning again."

The desert scene all well done and there are some thrilling fights. Barbara Le Mar, as the sheik's daughter, and Herschel Mayall, as the sheik, lend fine support to Gilbert and Miss Bedford.

"Arabian Love" and "Lids' Look in his new two-reel comedy, "The Eskimo," will be shown at the Star Theatre, tonight and Sunday.

"THEY LIKE 'EM ROUGH" AT SHERRY'S SUNDAY AND MONDAY.

"They Like 'Em Rough," is the title of the latest Metro picture starring Viola Dana. Miss Dana plays the role of a girl whose aversion to discipline and authority is also a handicap. Discovering that her aunt and uncle, with whom she lives, are plotting to marry her off to a certain young man whom they regard as a most desirable husband, Katherine decides to take matters into her own hands.

"Oh, show 'em," she says, "I'll go out and marry the first man I meet and bring him back as my husband to the wedding."

Now it happened that the first man that she met was a big, bearded, rough-looking customer dressed in lumberman's garb. Nothing daunted, Katherine offers him $100 to marry her and after the ceremony says: "Thanks a lot, see you again some time, maybe." He informs her that she will see him from now on, jumps into her car and carries her off to a lumber camp in the mountains. The resulting complications furnish much fun and thrills to everyone but Katherine.

"They Like 'em Rough" is a Harry Beaumont production, written and adapted by Rex Taylor, and photographed by John Arnold.

Also showing the comedy "Cleaned and Picked" two reels.

A GLITTERING ARRAY OF TALENT.

Will Be Seen on the New Bill at the Arcade Theatre on Sunday.

Smith & Jordan, the headline attraction, in a comedy acrobatic offering, "Fun, Fast and Furious." Comedy prevails all through this laughable absurdity. Their appearance is ludicrous and their antics cause hilarious laughter, which is the predominant feature of the act. They are also past masters of acrobatic stunts which are done in a manner that shows their ability as gymnasts supreme and their drill comic situations make a decided hit. Brown & Wheeler come in for their share of the comedy, in "Fresh Paint," a vehicle which has for its foundation nothing but fun interspersed with song bits and several good dancing numbers where their terpsichorean efforts are shown to good advantage. Benton & Clarke, known as the "Fashion Plate Pair," are a duo of musical comedy artists who have succeeded beyond a doubt in convincing patrons of vaudeville that they are entertainers of ability and class. Babe Cart, nicknamed Billy, which she likes to be called on account of her rollicking disposition and mannerisms, in the girl with quick feet, showing many styles of classical and eccentric dancing with a song or two making her act a lively and attractive one.
