VELVET JACKET WAS SYMBOL

Worn by Stevenson, According to Writer, as Protest Against the Tyranny of Fashion.

This gallantly he appears in my mind's eye when I pause in rereading one of his books and summon up a phantom of the author—Robert Louis Stevenson, gentleman adventurer in life and letters, his brown eyes shining in a swarthy face, his lean, long-encasing body adorned with a black velvet jacket, Henry Van Dyke writes in Northerners.

This garment is no disguise, but a symbol. It is short, so as not to impede him with entangling tails. It is unconventional, as a protest against the tyranny of fashion. But it is of velvet, mark you, to match a certain niceness of choice and preference of beauty—yes, and probably a touch of bravura in all its wearer's vagaries. 'Tis like the silver spurs, broad sombrero and gay handkerchief of the thoughtless cowboy—not an element of the dandiacal, but a tribute to romance. Strange that the most genuine of men usually have a bit of this in their composition; your only incurable poseur being the fellow who affects never to pose and betrays himself.

Mr. Albert H. Heywood entertained a party of friends at her apartment last evening in compliment to her.

Mrs. Duncan, of Garfield,ington, was the guest of honor at a party given by Mrs. J. H. Johnson at her home, 1502 First street, last evening.

Mr. H. W. Parsons entertained the members of the Ladies Aid of the Lutheran church, Thursday of this week at her home, 1502 First street. A very good attendance was present and after the business session, the room was spent in social chat and singing for the ladies and the men to give November 15.

John Johnson, who is the latest application of science, Science and Invention relates that experts at the national bureau of standards in Washington were appealed to for a method of breaking the shells of chelona nuts without damaging the kernels. They found that it took a weight of nearly a ton to crack the shells, and that after that effort the meat of the nut was broken in many small pieces.

Then they applied liquid air to the problem. They did not freeze solid a piece of rubber and use it as a hammer, as is done in the classic stunt of physics, but they simply immersed the nuts in liquid air for 30 seconds and cracked them easily without damage to the kernels. Now the physicists are trying to find out whether this method can be applied commercially on a large scale.

Chelona nuts are grown in South America. Their dense, strong shells were used during the war to make charcoal for gas masks, and the oil from the kernels is a valuable food similar to copra.

Rivals

Robert J. Lulland (below), suburban conductor, is candidate for assemblyman in Nassau County, N. Y. His opponent is E. Truise Davison (above), son of the late Henry P. Davison and heir to millions. Lulland daily punches Davison's commutation ticket.

HEAD STUFFED FROM CATARRH OR A COLD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Opens Air Passages Right Up.

Instant relief—no waiting. Your clogged nostrils open right up; the air passages of your head clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffling, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh disappears.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly. It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh.

All of That. When my small daughter became interested in our ages I laughingly told her that I was sixteen and daddy twenty-one. After she learned to count she added a year to the birthdays came around.

One day while she was playing at a neighbor's the woman of the house said: "Mary, do you know how old your mother is?"

Mary answered: "Nineteen."

"Oh, she is older than that, Mary. I'll bet she is twenty-six or twenty-seven."

Mary came home and told me of the conversation. After my resentment of my neighbor's inquisitiveness had subsided I was amused at the unattended compliment. I am thirty-five. —Exchange.

American Silks.

There are some interesting phases of the official statistics with reference to the manufacture of silk goods in the United States, particularly those that have to do with the early history of that industry.

It appears that the making of silk goods in our country has grown rapidly since the year 1800. At that time only 15 per cent of the silk used in the United States was home-made. In 1870 the percentage of home manufactured silk had doubled; in 1880 it had become more than 50 per cent; in 1890, 70 per cent, while at present it is estimated to be in excess of 85 per cent.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a remarkable record. It has been in use for colds, croup and whooping cough for almost half a century and has constantly grown in favor and popularity as its good qualities become better known. It is the standard and main reliance for these ailments in thousands of homes. The facts that it can always be depended upon and is safe and pleasant to take are greatly in its favor when it is wanted for children.

A REMARKABLE RECORD. HOW BETTER THAN PILLS?

The question has been asked: "What way are Chamberlain's Tablets superior to the ordinary cathartic and liver pills?" Our answer is, they are and more pleasant to take and have effect so quick that one daily is certain that it is produced by a medicine. Then they get only into the bowels but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion.
