

GRID TEAMS PLAY TODAY

Every member of the Pacific Coast conference will be in action this afternoon on the football field. Oregon plays the strong Multnomah Union, the Oregon Aggies clash with Willamette, Washington plays Idaho, Washington State battles Gonzaga, California takes on St. Mary's, the Trojan face Arizona and Stanford plays Santa Clara.

The comparative strength of the Aggies and Oregon will be approximated by the doped peddlers, Idaho and Washington will play the first important game of the conference, Stanford's chances against the Golden Bears will be discovered by the sport's writers after they show their strength against Santa Clara, California will play St. Mary's and Arizona will attempt to stop Southern California. Tomorrow's games will have an important bearing on the title race, although only the Idaho and Stanford battle will be listed in the league standings. The Power of Saved Money

It is not the young man's earnings that put him through college; that keep him until he becomes independent; that set him up in business. It is the money the old man saved.

The power of saved money lies behind every farm, every industry, every business—every activity that goes to make progress. It is the mainspring of the happy home; the secret of independent old age.

YOUR money in this bank means more power to the nation. Your money in this bank means ever ready and ever growing power for you.
