MORNING GLORY CONTROL FOUND

Test plots for the eradication of morning glories in the latter part of July this year. Many farmers are marking the morning glory patches with stakes (one and one-half pound) to destroy them with salt. Several have applied to the Farm Bureau for assistance in pulling orders for a carload of more.

Precipitous. An amateur mountain climber, relating his experience in the Rockies, said: "Goin' up you can mighty high stand up straight and idle the ground; goin' down a man wants to-bumbl on the seat of his trousers."—Vancouver Province.

Mr. Hughes is seen as Jimmy Berry, junior partner in the firm of Dawson & Berry, who are about to expand their business by opening a branch in South America. Dorothy Dawson, wife of Howard Dawson, decides to invest her own money in the firm without her husband's knowledge and accordingly enlists the aid of Jimmy. They are seen together while making the necessary arrangements and scandal reaches the ears of Dawson, who is jealous of his wife.

In "I Can Explain," Mr. Hughes has the assistance of an admirable cast, including Grace Darmond, Bartine Burkett, Victor (Slim) Patel, Nelson McDowell, Herbert Hayes, Edward Wallace and Harry Loraine.

Also showing Dan Mason in "Pop Tattle's Movie Queen," a two reel comedy.

FOX "MONTE CRISTO" A GIANT PRODUCTION

Alexander Dumas, considered by many book lovers as the greatest writer of fiction of all times, almost invariably used as his theme the safety of thrones; but in his classic "Monte Cristo," which has been made by William Fox into a super photo-production and which is now showing at the Arcade Theatre, Dumas drifts from the theme of which he seemed to be the master, to that of the oppression of a soul that lived but to oppress other souls.

Though the story deals with a period in French history which abounds with dramatic incidents that well might serve as a plot for historical writing, i. e., the Napoleonic period, yet the write was not tempted by such an alluring bait. Nevertheless the story is an all absorbing one which grips the spectator and holds his attention to the very end.

The manner in which the leading character, Edmund Dantes, makes himself the instrument of retributive justice is so well done that even though his acts seem somewhat unholy, one cannot but glory with him.

"Monte Cristo" will be shown today and Wednesday only.

"THE FAST MAIL" COMING

"The Fast Mail," which was one of the most thrilling melodramas ever presented on the American stage has been pictureized and will be presented at the Star Theatre beginning Friday. It is a William Fox production.
