

COVE PEOPLE HELP IMBLER

COVE, Oct. 20.—Many Cove people are in Imbler picking apples. The industry in that section is at its height and they expect to market around 300 cars. The apples are being sold for 50 cents per box. The varieties, mostly grown are Rome Beauty and Jonathan with some Winter Pannas and Delicious.

Mrs. Cummins, Mrs. E. F. Roberts' mother, who has been in Cove for the past year and a half, returned with her son William Cummins to her home in Maxville, Kansas, Wednesday, October 11.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Antles of North Yakima, Wash., who have been in Cove returned Thursday to their Washington home, returning via Portland. Mrs. A. A. Antles and son Archer accompanied them as far as Portland.

Rev. C. W. DuBois, general missionary for Eastern Oregon was in Cove Wednesday.

The Cove school teachers are all back at work again. Prof. J. R. Price and Mrs. J. E. Mills returning from Baker on Friday evening, and Miss Mildred Payton, Miss Esther Saunders, Miss Juanita Smith, Miss Helen Daugherty returning to their various homes Sunday.

Miss Roberts, a former Cove teacher, spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Nellie R. Grace.

Mr. J. E. Mills was a Baker visitor on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Lay, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Daniel and their granddaughters, Carmen and Jane Daniel, were La Grande visitors on Sunday.

Mr. O. G. Galtner of Baker was a Cove visitor on Sunday.

Guy Barker and Louie Lantz are in Imbler helping to harvest its immense apple crop.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW
Druggist Says Ladies Are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmothers made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

Pacific Power & Light company for a power development on the Deschutes river at the so-called reclamation site about 20 miles upstream from the point where it empties into the Columbia river.

It is estimated that there is water available for the development of a hydro-electric plant having a capacity of 54,000 horsepower. The water wheels will operate under a head of 150 feet. The company has a growing market for power and will be able to utilize all the power developed eventually.

A preliminary permit for three years has been authorized for issuance to the Columbia Valley Power company of New York for power development on two power sites on Deschutes river, one of which is a short distance below the junction of the Metolius and Deschutes rivers in Oregon and the second about four miles below. It has been estimated that the stream flow is sufficient to warrant the installation of about 220,000 horsepower of generating equipment, provided a market can be found for the power.

The company applied originally for five sites on the Deschutes river.

EXPLORERS GET HOME DELIGHTED
(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Oct. 20.—The explorers who accompanied the late Sir Ernest Shackleton to the Antarctic on his last voyage have recently returned to England in the Quest, and they readily confess their delight at being home again. They have been absent one year, and hardship and disappointment have been their portion.

Since the death of Shackleton in the Antarctic last January, the explorers have been led by Captain Frank Wilde. He believes important scientific results have been secured, and says these soon will be officially recorded.

In sixty-five eighteen, south, the party achieved a record for longitude. They believe they were near land, judging from appearances, as the water was shallowing rapidly. The fault of the ship was that she was not powerful enough to combat the ice. She was well equipped and had plenty of food, so that she could have carried on for some time had she had the necessary power.
