THEATRES

AT SHERRYS—TODAY ONLY "HELL'S BORDER"

Mr. Wm. "Bill" Fairbanks, star in "Hell's Border," an original story written for him by Hal Norfleet, called for the star to do many thrilling stunts which are right in Mr. Fairbank's line, but he didn't expect the star to do the one calling for the hero of the story to walk his horse across the log connecting the cliffs. Director Norfleet had figured on the double exposure method for this stunt, when Mr. Fairbanks interrupted by saying that unless he could actually do the stunt he would rather that part of the story be eliminated. Norfleet, amazed, retorted that no man could walk a horse across the cliff he had selected, regardless of the size of the log.

"What's the idea," asked Director Norfleet. "You didn't think I was going to ride that wild horse of mine across that log, did you? I brought out 'Bob,' the old circus horse, who used to walk the plank under the big tops." After a half day's coaxing the old circus horse, under the coaxing and petting of Mr. Fairbanks, walked across the log, picking his way carefully, but with the assurance of one that had been doing it every day. This stunt that Director Norfleet figured would have to be double exposed turned out to be the one giving Mr. Fairbanks the least concern.

"THE FAST MAIL" COMES IN ON TIME

There can be no doubt about the entertainment value of "The Fast Mail," the William Fox melodrama which was shown for the first time last night at the Star Theatre. It is action plus and contains enough thrills to satisfy even the most critical movie fan.

"The Fast Mail," which was produced from Lincoln J. Carter's sensational railroad melodrama, is even better than the original play which ran for twenty-two seasons. All the thrills that delighted the popular love for exciting melodrama are shown on the screen with the realism which could not be attempted on the stage.

During an argument over the division of the stake, one of the gamblers is shot and the other one decoys the heroine into an automobile. The hero follows and the most exciting pursuit ever screened, follows. The picture is a real, hair-raising thriller and in the words of William Fox, its producer, is an "Honest Melodrama."

"The Fast Mail" will be shown at the Star Theatre today and Sunday.

SHERRYS, SUNDAY, MONDAY

"The Hole in the Wall," Fred Jackson's melodrama, which gave Broadway a lot of unexpected thrills several seasons ago, has been made into a motica picture, with Alice Lake as star.

"The Hole in the Wall" is a story of the underworld, the spirit world and the society world. It concerns itself with the adventures of Jean Oliver (Alice Lake), daughter of a Boston banker, who flees to New York in the disgrace of her father's suicide after an embezzlement indictment. She obtains a position as social secretary to the wealthy Mrs. Ramsey, whose son becomes infatuated with her. Mrs. Ramsey, in fury, plants jewelry in the girl's trunk and has her arrested for theft. Jean meets some swindlers in jail, and, when her term is ended, accepts their offer to pose as "Madame Mysteria," a fake spiritualist medium, in exchange for their agreement to kidnap Mrs. Ramsey's grandson. Jean, in order to revenge herself on the Ramseys, plans to bring the boy up as a criminal.

"SONG OF LIFE" PRESENTS HUMAN DRAMA OF KITCHEN

Romance and pathos, happiness and misunderstanding, love and pathos—these are some of the vital elements which are weaved into what is described as a great human drama of the kitchen in "The Song of Life," John M. Stahl's special feature production, which will be the First National attraction presented by Louis B. Mayer at the Arcade Theatre Monday and Tuesday.

"The Song of Life" is interpreted by a cast of all-star calibre, headed by Gaston Glass, Grace Darmond, Georgia Woodthorpe and Richard Headrick, and includes such well known players as Arthur Stuart Hull, Wedgwood Nowell, Edward Peil, Fred Kelsey and Claude Payton.

SUNDAY WILL HAVE A BRISK SHOW

Mystery wonders, comedy magic, vocalists and dancing comprise the new bill presented at the Arcade Theatre Sunday.

Al Barnes & Co., a European legerdemain attraction has the headline honors on this well balanced vaudeville program consisting of magic and illusions, interspersed with a vast amount of wholesome comedy. The novel feature of this offering is showing to the public "just how it is done." Slight of hand and illusion tricks are done and immediately after disclosing how the stunt was accomplished and how easy it is to deceive the naked eye.

Middleton's Manikans, a clever Marionette exhibition in which mechanical figures furnish plenty of amusement to the children and the old folks as well. Something rick, snappy, interesting and enjoyable.

Sheahan & Startzman, versatile singers and dancers, start the show in a lively manner with their intricate dauding steps and comedy flashes of wit and humor and their melodious voices which will be heard to advantage, both solos and converted numbers.

UP TO CHIN IN TAXES IS OLD ENGLAND

land has the highest tax rate in the world.) He is not eager for more, the weight of which would almost break him. This is the proposition with which England is faced. She has either got to fight the Turks at a tremendous cost of men and money without the full cooperation of her own people, or else she has to lose India, Egypt, Persia and the Holy land. Do you wonder the stock markets broke?

"What will happen? I do not know! But whatever happens, there will be no check on business. The farmer will be helped by higher prices for wheat. Manufacturing and shipping will become more active. The cost of living will go up. Money will be firmer and scarcer. People will sell their foreign securities. The stock market, however, will not permanently suffer. When the financial history of 1922 is written, this will be chronicled only as a 'break in a bull market.' Moreover, writers will add: 'Considering the great seriousness of the Turkish situation, it is most surprising that the stock market behaved so well. Only the fact that business was not inflated but was still 6 points below normal saved the situation. Had the nation in 1922 been enjoying a period of real prosperity there would have been witnessed a real old-fashioned panic.'"

Anyway, It's a Pretty Legend.

There is an ancient Chinese superstition that if you can tempt persons you will live forever. Many years ago, it is said, a Chinese girl, believing in this superstition, gave her sailor sweetheart a peach seed to carry for him on a trip to America. While in this country he lost the seed, and from it grew the first peach tree in the United States.

The Ring Finger.

The fourth finger, which has less motion than the others, has the advantage of being protected by the other fingers. It owes to this circumstance a comparative immunity from injury, and this accounts for its use as the ring finger.
