Society

Good cheer, neighborly spirit and more unalloyed friendship blended most beautifully Thursday night at the Country club constituting one of La Grande's most delightful social occasions. Since the day the Country club was completed and rightfully became the heart of La Grande's social life, there has been no event more thoroughly enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. August Stauss entertained their friends with a Halloween party in a complete interpretation of that ever-pleasant date. The club's interior was very artistically transformed with embellishments indicative of Halloween. Softening gleefully from the heat of autumn leaves and boughs a large pumpkin with wide mouth and carefully carved teeth; between which streamed light from interior candles, turned the fireplace of the club room into a distinctive exhibit. Above the mantel a full moon carrying a glowing smile and the proverbial wink of one eye beamed down upon the party, while on every wall the guests met face to face innumerable black cats of different denominations, sizes and temperaments, most of which showed either anxiety or anger by arching their backs and shooting fire through their eyes. Streamers of soft yellow, typical color for the occasion, softened the light and fell most gracefully from the different chandeliers.

In harmony with the artistic interior tables in the dining room carried elegant decorations, making the refreshment period not only pleasant because of the exquisite refreshments, but also furnished an interesting feature for all guests. Dancing was the evening's chief feature and the orchestra at once took up the spirit of the occasion by rendering just the kind of music that fastened harmony in its most complete form upon the assembly. When two hours of superb enjoyment had passed the host and hostess augmented the program by providing each guest with a Halloween cap and whistle. Renewed energy followed and the orchestra seemed to render animated selections which it had held in reserve, continuing the happy event long past the midnight hour.

Mrs. A. C. Hampton and Mrs. G. L. Larison were joint hostesses to the members of the afternoon Kaitie Klank at the Country club, Friday, October 27. Bridge, consisting of three tables, was in play during the afternoon, after which refreshments were served by the hostesses. The first prize for the afternoon was won by Mrs. Zimmermann, and Mrs. Dantz received consolation.

The birthday of Mrs. Charles Playle was the inspiration for a delightful party given by her daughter, Mrs. Earl Rosenbaum on Saturday evening when a group of ladies were invited to the Playle home, and most completely and pleasantly surprised her.

Four tables of bridge were in play after which various original and clever stunts occupied the evening. A dainty lunch was served and Mrs. Playle was presented with a beautiful bouquet of chrysanthemums in honor of the day. Each departing guest wished Mrs. Playle many more such bright and happy birthdays.

Owing to the death of one of its members of the Monday Bridge club, the next meeting of October 30, has been postponed until November 13, and will be held at the home of Mrs. O'Connell.

Mrs. W. H. Bohnenkamp Jr., and Mrs. M. D. Donohue will entertain Monday afternoon at the Country club at bridge.

Mrs. H. K. O'Brien was hostess to the members of the Wednesday Holiday club this week at her home on First street. Three tables were in action during the afternoon, Mrs. Seraglia receiving the prize. Refreshments were served by the hostess before the guests departed.

Honora ball assumed a look of goodliness last night when the Girls' Friendly Society held an informal Halloween party for the members.

The girls were all attired in Halloween costumes, and the hall was decorated in orange and black, with black cats, pumpkins, witches and their broomsticks predominating about the rooms. Appropriate games for the occasion were played, and the latter part of the evening dancing was enjoyed.

Miss Margaret Baker gave two solo dances, and Miss Buelah Grant rendered four piano selections. Refreshments of cider, doughnuts, apples and sandwiches were served. The committee in charge of the evening's successful party were Mrs. F. E. Taylor and her daughter, Miss Donald, Marjorie Warnick, Thelma Smith, Adelaide Clark, Irene Glass and Margaret Baker.

At their assembly Friday morning the Junior High at Greenwood were favored by a solo rendered by Mrs. McPherson who sang "I Hear You Calling Me."

Others numbers on the program were:

Chorus, "Boola Song," by Junior High.

Reading, "The Old Man and Jim," Kenneth Vaught.

Piano solo, "Why Should I Love You," Blanche Rice.

Reading, "Swinging in the Grape Vine Swing," Asa McIntosh.

Reading, "The Arrow and the Song," May Clay.

Saxophone solo, "When Shall We Meet Again," and "Old Pal, Why Don't You Answer Me," Leslie Row.

The Junior High Orchestra composed of Violins, Mazie Knapp, Marvin Bartlett, Orval Wise; Saxophone, Leslie Row; Cornet, Mrs. Nell Thacker, Oscar Burke; Guitar, Ruby Gardner; Piano, Katherine Leowallan and Organ, Blanche Rice, are doing excellent work and we expect them to add many pleasing numbers to our programs.

The M. I. A. hall was the scene of a delightful Halloween party Thursday evening, October 26, when Miss Melba Banks entertained a party of friends. The hall was decorated with Halloween decorations, cats, pumpkins, owls, witches, ghosts, and everything that was in keeping with Halloween. Dancing was enjoyed from nine to eleven, after which a two-course luncheon was served. Twelve couples were present which included Earl Larison, Velma Switzer, Grand Geddes, Mildred Hoyt, Lester Horstman, Myrtle Hoyt, Clarence Newlin, Avis Maguire, Palmer Byrkit, Edris Maguire, Frank Black, Lou Lyman, Thelma Green, Mary Jean Thatcher, Elliot La Franier, Beth Hesse, Leroy Conley, Carol Glenn, Porter Webb, Thelma Cheate, T. C. McDonald, Paula Hanks, Clarence Woodell, Melba Hanks.

Mrs. Robert Pattison entertained a card club at her home on Oak street Friday evening with Mrs. W. H. Bohnenkamp receiving a first prize.

Paul Underwood and Miss Irene McQuarrie, both of La Grande, were (Continued on Page Six.)

THE ONLY WAY

The only way to get cheap tire service is to buy good tires and take care of them. For twenty years we have used and sold tires and we know this to be true. We have seen a lot of experiments tried in this time; some queer, some that looked good. We have seen new brands come with a bang and go with a thud. Every bit of knowledge and information we could get convinces us that it pays to buy a good tire of proven quality and use it with reasonable care. That's the way to get tire service and tire satisfaction.
