THEATRES

AT SHERRYS TODAY AND TOMORROW "TURN TO THE RIGHT"

"Turn to the Right," the most popular comedy-drama of the stage, whose appeal was testified to by millions of theatre-goers, has been transferred to the screen. As a stage play, "Turn to the Right" made a fortune for John Golden who presented it and for the authors, Winchell Smith and John E. Hazard. Keeping up this financial record a half interest in the screen rights was sold to Metro Pictures Corporation for a quarter of a million dollars, top price for any motion picture production. The screen version is presented by John Golden and Marcus Loew and is a Rex Ingram production, directed by the creator, for the silent drama, of "The Four Horsemen of Apocalypse" and "The Conquering Power."

It tells the story of a country boy who, while serving a prison term unjustly, becomes acquainted with two crooks. Returning home he finds the mortgage about to be foreclosed by the village saint. With the aid of his two crook pals a way is found to beat out the miser while the influence of the crook mother leads the two crooks into love and a better life. It is presented by a notable cast headed by Alice Terry who won an enviable reputation in "The Four Horsemen" and "The Conquering Power." Playing opposite her is Jack Mollath, known on both stage and screen. Others in the cast are Harry Myers, who was the Yankee in "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court"; George Cooper, Edward Conely, Lydia Knott, Betty Allen, Margaret Loomis, William Bletcher, Eric Mayne and Ray Ripley.

"A FOOL THERE WAS" SCORES AT THE ARCADE

There are thousands of vampires in real life and tens of thousands of fools. Just take a look over the newspapers any day. In producing the 1922 version of "A Fool There Was," William Fox has kept his vampire up to date. You can read her story any time in the newspaper reports. The picture which was presented at the Arcade Theatre last night is from the sensational stage success by Porter Emerson Browne, inspired by Rudyard Kipling's poem, "The Vampire," a combination that has resulted in a drama that moves with splendid entertainment. Estelle Taylor's vampire is something worth looking at. She goes on her vampish way luring with charm and personality instead of hectic sex appeal which has been so overdone in other roles of this sort. Lewis S. Stone is a logical and human fool, the fool's wife is charmingly portrayed by Irene Rich, and Marjorie Daw plays her fire-flashing little sister with plenty of snap. Other excellent support in the all-star cast includes Harry Landels, Mahlon Hamilton, Wallace MacDonald, William V. Mong, and little Francis Dana. Excellent is the cast, lavish and delightful the production. "A Fool There Was" is worth while. It will be shown today and Wednesday.

WARNING!

Have you ever put goose grease on your shoes when the shoe polish was all gone, and you just had to have a shine before calling on your best girl? If so, take heed of the embarrassing, but funny, experience of "Grandma's Boy," who is none other than the one and only Harold Lloyd.

"Grandma's Boy" is Harry Lloyd's newest Hal Roach comedy production for Associated Exhibitors. It is in five reels of real story and hilarious comedy, and will be shown at the Arcade Theatre, starting Thursday. Better make your plans to attend the matinee.
