Had His Car Stripped—La Grande people have their troubles just as well as do other people. John McPherson left for Portland a few nights ago in his car. When he was near The Dalles an axle broke and he was forced to leave the machine on the highway while he went for repairs. Everything that could be taken from the car was stolen in his absence. The amount of the loss runs high as Mr. McPherson had his machine equipped with many of the late accessories.

ALL AMERICA STIRRED BY ELECTION

LaFollette on Warpath. Senator LaFollette, during the closing days of the campaign, left Wisconsin and went into Minnesota and North Dakota, where he took the stump for Hendrik Shipstead, the Farmer-Labor candidate, against Senator Kellogg and Pralzer.

Illinois, without a senatorial contest, has witnessed congressional campaign battles of considerable intensity in some districts. Chief among the issues in the legislative campaign with Governor Small and Mayor Thompson of Chicago as leaders of their faction of the Republican party, urging support of candidates, irrespective of party, who will go along with the Small-Thompson program next winter and spring.

Illinois votes on a $55,000,000 bond issue for a soldiers' bonus and a referendum on beer and wine sentiment.

New England States Stirred Up. (By Associated Press.) BOSTON, Nov. 7.—Apart from Massachusetts, where the campaign has closed with assurances of certain victory at the polls by both Republican and Democratic spokesmen, pre-election claims have been unusually lacking this year in the New England states. Increased registration of the Democratic voters in Massachusetts, the defection of certain Republican elements and engagements during the last days of his campaign and re-election were factors on which supporters of William A. Goswami, Democratic candidate for senator, were said to base optimistic prophecies.

Re-election of Senator Lodge, although possibly by a slightly diminished majority, is confidently predicted by Republican members.

At the close of a vigorous campaign in Rhode Island, statements by leaders of the two major parties were conservative, while it was admitted that the closest race was between Senator Peter G. Gerry, Democrat, seeking re-election, and former Governor B. Livingston Besekian, Republican.

Vermont in Wet and Dry Fight. In Vermont, where the Democratic congressional candidates have devoted many of the campaign arguments in advocating modification of the Volstead act, James D. Kenehan, Democratic candidate in the First district, announced Sunday night that he was certain of victory on the modification issue. Other Democratic candidates expressed merely the hope of reduced Republican majorities in the state.

New Hampshire Republicans expect to elect W. H. Goodnow, their candidate for governor, and retain a Republican delegation to congress. Democratic heads claim that there has been a reaction against the Republican administration which will cause a serious reduction of Republican majorities.

APPLE MEN FEAR FROST

HOOD RIVER, Nov. 7.—Apple growers of remote districts whose crops are unprotected from cold, were anxiously alerted tonight over the threat of snow. A storm, accompanied by low temperatures, such as prevailed last November, would result in a loss of a heavy percentage of the district's apple crop. The car shortage has resulted in shipping concerns limiting their deliveries of growers to small quantities on a per-acre basis.

PORTLAND HAS NEAR RIOTING

(By Associated Press.) PORTLAND, Nov. 7.—First violence in the longshoremen's strike occurred Sunday when 100 or more strikers and sympathizers, including many women, who had gathered at Almsworth dock clashed with strike breakers going to and returning from their noontime meal. L. W. Smith, a strike breaker, was menaced by a crowd of strikers as he approached the dock in an automobile. He told the police, and drove rapidly through the crowd, unsetting one or two strikers. When he stopped, a rush on his car was made but the police rescued and then arrested him on a charge of reckless driving. Four men, alleged to be members of the I. W. W., were arrested Sunday by the police in connection with the strike.

FARMER KILLED BY TRUCK—PORTLAND, Nov. 7.—E. H. Shelter, 68, farmer in the vicinity of Powell valley and Jenne roads, was killed instantly when he was struck by a wood truck driven by C. Everett of Boring. The authorities said the accident was apparently unavoidable.

Shelter was walking toward Jenne road on the Powell Valley road when Everett's machine approached from behind. Just before Everett's machine would have passed the pedestrian, a touring car driven by Edward Keop, 493 Main street, attempted to pass the truck. The right rear hub cap of Keop's machine struck the left front hub of Everett's truck in passing, throwing the truck toward Shelter. Shelter was knocked violently to the pavement and was run over by the right front wheel. He suffered a compound fracture of the skull. Deputy Coroner Giesch took charge of the body. Both drivers will report to the sheriff this morning. Shelter was a widower.

"A diamond in the rough may be valuable enough, but the same diamond cut and polished gains quicker appreciation."

It's human nature also, to judge a man by his appearance. We have learned to classify a man by his clothes. We expect his personality to be outwardly expressed in his manner of dress.

Collegian suits and overcoats are perfect at home wherever well-dressed men gather. They emphasize the standing of men of position. They reflect the ability of young Americans. They're a help and an inspiration to every man.
