NOTED AUTHOR DIED AS FAME CAME TO HER

"Cigarette," the heroine of Ouida's immortal masterpiece, "Under Two Flags," is one of the most tragic figures of history. According to stories told at the time the manuscript was first published it was a book based on real life. There actually was a wild young girl, half French, half Arab, who had been adopted by a regiment of French troops stationed in Algiers. She gave her life to save the French. With this as basis, Ouida wrote a story that has gone down through the years, ever gaining in fame and popularity.

It is one of the real tragedies of the world that the author, Louise de La Ramee, Ouida's real name, died in obscurity and virtual poverty just a few years before the merit of "Under Two Flags" was recognized. Following its fame as a work of fiction it was produced on the legitimate stage with that noted American actress, Miss Blanche Bates, in the role of Cigarette. Many other prominent actresses followed her in the part on the road and later it was played by hundreds of stock companies.

Early this year when Universal purchased the moving picture rights to "Under Two Flags," the question of who was to play the part of Cigarette was easily answered. Universal boasts the one screen actress with the fire and impetuosity to play the role to best advantage. Priscilla Dean not only was logical, but a happy choice, as anyone who sees her work in the Jewel feature which is now playing at the Arcade Theatre, will admit.

Universal spared no expense in the preparation of this super-feature. Some of the most notable players of screendom were engaged to support Miss Dean. Included in the cast are James Kirkwood, a star in his own right, who plays the part of Corporal Victor; John Davidson as Sheik Ben Ali Hammud; Stuart Holmes as the Marquis de Chateauroy; Ethel Grey Terry as the Princess Corona; Robert Mack as Rake; Burton Law as the Sheiks' aide, and Albert Follet as Captain Tollaire. Tod Browning directed the production.

RAWLINSON SEEN IN CLEVER PHOTOPLAY

With the coming of Herbert Rawlinson's latest Universal starring vehicle "Confidence," to the Sherry theatre Tuesday and Wednesday, there will be presented one of the most appealing of small town tales ever told on the screen.

In this picture, Rawlinson, always a capable dramatic exponent of crooks and confidence men, plays the part of a highbinder who doesn't know that he is one. When he does find out that he is being used as a tool for one of the most notorious confidence men in the country, he sets about turning the tables and for the final thousand feet or so of film, the swindler is said to become a model citizen and a credit to the community.

The story was written especially for the star by Bernard Hyman and adapted to the screen by Raymond L. Schrock, scenario editor at Universal city.

Playing opposite Rawlinson in the leading feminine role is Harriett Hammond who heads a supporting cast of many well known players. Among them are Hallam Cooley, Lincoln Plumer, William A. Carroll, Otto Hoffman, William Robert Daly, John Steppling, Melbourne McDowell, Gerald Pring, Robert Milasch and Sam Allen.

The Carter DeHavens are also being shown in their latest success "Entertaining the Boss," said to be funnier than their big hit "Twin Husbands."
