BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
A LOVE FEAST.—Better is a dinner of herbs where love is, than a stalled ox and fattened therewith. —Proverbs 15: 17.

THE OFFICE CAT

KELLY, THE FISHERMAN
He riseth up early in the morning and disturbeth the whole household. Mighty are his preparations. He goeth forth full of hope. When the day is far spent, he returneth, smelling of strong drink, and the truth is not in him.

A La Grande man observes: the Galathian movements required in grooming the ice-pan are centered about the ash pit door. Of the Furace.

A WISE BIRD
Publisher—"In your story, I notice you make the owl hoot, 'To Whom' instead of 'To Who.'"
Author—"Yes, this is a Boston owl."

Result of Efficient Training
The detail had just arrived near his front lines when the captain looked around and noticed a private, hatless and coatless.

"Where's the rest of your uniform," he demanded.
"Back where we came from."
"Go back and get it."
The private vanished and later appeared correctly uniformed but without his rifle.
"Where's your gun?"
"Left it back where we came from."
"Listen," bellowed the captain. "You're a fine soldier. What were you in civilian life?"
"Printer's assistant."

The Bard's Preference
Love is but the birdlet's chirp. The setting sun's grim chuck, but for a change I like to hear The lark's merry chuck.

Judge: "Since Bastus is 22 and you, Dinah, are 55, it is clearly a case of Spring marrying Autumn."
Dinah: "Oh, no, your honor, I bears to me it's no like the Day of Rest marryin' Labor Day."

Speaking of the Digest, one man in La Grande, makes reference to the Literary Charcoal Tablet.

The optimist laughs to forget. The pessimist forgets to laugh.

Economy of Production
"So, you're keeping bees, are you?" asked Brian Hoskins of his neighbor, on the way to town.
"Yep, and I've figured out how I can make again as much money out of 'em, too," replied Eph Brown.
"How's that?"
"Why, I'm going to have 'em roamed with lightning bugs, so that they kin see to work at night."

Pessimist (looking at new roadster): "How many will this car hold?"
Optimistic Salesman: "Three, but it can get in it they're well accommodated."

But It Is Not Done

Pendleton held a big meeting a few days ago for the purpose of starting a movement to develop the Columbia river. As usual J. N. Teal, recognized as an expert on navigation and transportation rates, was present and told what might be done.

But there have been such meetings occasionally for the last quarter century. The government has expended fortunes in making the Columbia suited to river traffic, yet there is no traffic.

Only a few years back a big celebration was held when the locks were completed and it was herded far and wide that now Eastern Oregon and Eastern Washington had river transportation and a lesser freight rate would follow.

How many ships work up and down the Columbia river today? None! Just why we do not know. But for some reason all the money spent on the river has brought no transportation.

It is like a lot of things—looks fine on paper but when put to practical use it has its shortcomings and heavy expenses.

He Is Seventy-Five Years Old

Justice Thomas McBride had a birthday party a few nights ago. Nothing especially remarkable about a birthday for a lot of people, but when you contemplate the fact that Justice McBride has been on earth seventy-five years, this birthday is somewhat remarkable. And still more remarkable and refreshing it is to know that the Justice is in good health and works every day on the supreme bench of Oregon with remarkable vigor, exceptional ability and with an idea of justice that has no parallel in the west.

That he is Oregon's grand old man is positive; that he is one of the pillars upon which justice west of the Rocky Mountains has been erected is a matter of history; that he is a real man among men is known to those who know him best.

All honor to Justice McBride. May he live to pass the one hundred mark and retain his exceptional intellect, his magnanimous disposition and his present love for his fellowman.

Editorials From Over the Nation

WITH THE ASTRONOMERS
Omaha World-Herald: It is seldom that anyone talks to us in terms approaching qualifications. And when they do we feel like saying "what so?" Whether we can comprehend what a recent announcement from the Harvard college observatory means in terms of figures, we feel better informed to learn of the discovery by astronomers of a new cluster of stars visible in the southern hemisphere.

Perhaps the mind of a mathematician or a poet can travel the 669,000,000,000,000,000 miles necessary to come within hailing distance of these new worlds. Then he could take a look across the immense diameter of the cluster top a distance of 20,000,000,000,000,000,000 miles.

While the work of measuring some of the bodies in the Magellanic cloud proceeds we content ourselves with the knowledge that hundreds of them exceed the brightness of the sun itself. And we marvel at the skill by which the scientists measure to great a distance.

Before science knew so much this earth seemed to be the center of the universe. Mr. Andra still thinks it is. But most of us have been convinced by scientists that the earth is not what it seems. Speaking objectively our earth is scarcely larger than a pin head among the countless stars. And what is that? He cannot appear as large as the smallest known stars seen only through powerful microscopes.

Though we are staggered by an attempt to imagine the distance to what seems to be a new universe, we wonder how anybody can be "closer" when he contemplates the heavens and all the known works of our Creator. The Supreme Architect has wrought handiwork of which we have but the faintest understanding. But the fact that men are able to measure the distance of stars and to trace their movements with precision, helps confirm our humble belief that man's mind is guided by knowledge from above. And astronomers, far from being merely a gazing at the stars, give us a perspective such as nothing else can give.

WHY SUFFER SO

Why suffer from a bad back, from sharp, shooting twinges, headaches, dizziness and distressing urinary ills? La Grande people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Ask your neighbor. Could you ask for stronger proof of merit?
Mrs. C. I. Johnson, 802 Spring St., La Grande, says: "I was subject to disordered kidneys at times which caused pain across the small of my back and my head ached and I had severe dizzy spells and could hardly walk across the floor. During this trouble my kidneys acted irregularly and I felt miserable all over but after taking a box or two of Doan's I was free of kidney trouble." (Statement given May 26, 1916).

On May 6, 1920, Mrs. Johnson said: "I have never had anything do me as much good as Doan's. I depend on them when my kidneys trouble me for they are sure to give relief."

A BENEFIT TO WEAK ARCHES, TIRED ACHING FEET, CORNS, BUNIONS AND OTHER FOOT TROUBLES—THE Cantilever Shoe
ANSWERS A NEED OF 20 YEARS
Everyone has been reading and talking about this wonderful shoe, the greatest benefit to weak arches and tired aching feet ever made. We believe that if such a shoe had been available twenty years ago and that people had worn them at an early age the percentage of foot trouble today would have been reduced to a very great extent.
Here are some of the reasons why the Cantilever Shoe is favored by the national board of the Y. W. C. A., the Board of Police Surgeons of New York, and other bodies whose business it is to care for the health of those under their direction:
Straight inner border to follow line of normal foot.
Room for toes without crowding.
Broad low heel.
Flexible shank allowing action of arch muscles.
Low cut permitting free use of ankle.
Cantilever Shoes permit the free circulation and unrestricted foot action, they support the weak foot—not uncomfortably, but flexibly—while nature restores strength.
If you don't know the Cantilever, come in and get acquainted.

Her a World of Good.
"Chamberlain's Tablets have done me a world of good," writes Mrs. Ella L. Button, Kirkville, N. Y. "I have recommended them to a number of my friends and all who have used them praise them highly. When troubled with indigestion or constipation, give them a trial and realize for yourself what an excellent medicine it is.—Adv."
I have just about reached the conclusion that I would be as much of a failure as a musical critic as a Ford tire on a Packard wheel, says a local man.
