THEATRES

"THE DUST FLOWER"

Goldwyn Pictures Corporation and Basil King have again given the public a motion picture to be devoutly thankful for in "The Dust Flower," made from Mr. King's new novel, which was shown at the Sherry theater yesterday for the first time here. It is an excellent and stimulating entertainment in its way as was the same author's "Earthbound," the screen sensation of two seasons ago. It is, however, totally different in story and structure from "Earthbound"—it is real and not fanciful.

Goldwyn has given "The Dust Flower" a great cast in which Helen Chadwick and James Rennie are featured. Mr. Rennie is the actor who made such a big hit on the speaking stage in "Moonlight and Honey" and in "Spanish Love" and later married Dorothy Gish. Claude Gillingwater, Mona Kingsley, Edward Bell and George Bonifant have other important roles. Rowland V. Lee directed the production and an exceedingly good job he made of it. The characters and situations are fascinatingly real and consistent. The drama is profoundly moving and the love story line that freshness of charm that appeals to every heart. The last day.

Alice Howell in the two reel comedy, "Squirrels Time," is also being shown.

TOM MIX COMING IN NEW FOX PRODUCTION

Local followers of Tom Mix, the big luminary of the William Fox big screen, will have another treat in "Do and Dare," his latest vehicle which comes to the Star Theatre, next Saturday and Sunday.

This new screenplay, which is from the pen of Marion Brooks and which was directed by Edward Sedgwick, casts the vigorous hero in three distinct roles—first, as the valiant and peril-defying scout of the western plains who rescues the beautiful daughter of the commandant of a desolate frontier fort from a hostile Indian tribe and then saves the post from the onslaughts of the savages; second, as the guileless and puny youth who neither knows of, nor seeks, adventure in his provincial shell, but who is suddenly fired by the desire for romance when he hears the lurid tales of his famous forebear; and third, as the brave and resolute participant in a South American revolution, whose daring deeds win for him the woman he loves and the command of a nation's military forces.

Those who are familiar with the varied talents of this dynamic actor can easily picture the grace and dash with which he conducts himself in the numerous scenes of this photoplay. To say it is Tom at his best is an old description but true nevertheless.

IF PRIZE WERE GIVEN FOR BEST MOTHER—

Children of Mary Carr Say Actress in "Silver Wings" Would Win It.

"Did you read the cable Lady Astor's children sent her?" Mrs. Carr asked. "Lady Ruth, Lady Ruth, fly away home, your house is on fire and your children will burn. We'll read it at the breakfast table and loved it."

I told her the little girl who lives at my house thought it a particularly effective way to get wandering parents home, and decided to try it next time she wanted to recall her family.

"Children are the same all over the world," she said. "They love a laugh, and they love to have their parents laugh with them."

She was telling about the number of scenes that William Fox insisted be retaken in "Silver Wings"—her latest picture which will be shown at the Arcade Theatre today, and how hard he had worked to bring it up to the ideal.

Mrs. Carr's "Silver Wings" is the "highlight" of her life. Added to the work she did in this popular picture, her personal appearances have helped her win even greater recognition.

"Mother would win it," says Lucila Carr, the oldest daughter. Lucila Carr, the oldest daughter. Lucila Carr, the oldest daughter.

oil is an actress also, but she is more interested in her mother's career than her own personal success. There is John, who is the humorist of the family, and My Beth, the baby, who at the tender age of nine is trying to be grown up and overcome being the youngest of six. Stephen, the school boy, and two others. This is Mrs. Carr's collection of jewels and with Cornelia she agrees they are better than any she might buy to adorn herself. Whereas, other stars spend their money in diamonds, rubies and emeralds, Mrs. Carr spends her salary in keeping her family together and seeing that the children have everything they need.
