Enterprise, arrived in the city recently on the branch line train, and is here today attending to some business matters. He is stopping at the Foley.

McCutley in Portland

From Joseph, Ore., to Portland in 15 hours is the time made by Mrs.
E. D. McCutley. Accompanied by the Willows county court, Mrs. McCutley took the wheel and covered the 375 miles without breaking the speed laws or even exceeding 25 miles an hour. It was not the intention originally to push through in a day but when the party had dinner at The Dalles at 3 p. m., it was suggested that they might as well go on to Portland. The only trouble experienced was when reaching Crown Point. A dense fog hung over the Columbia river highway and the headlights were almost useless as the fog swallowed the cars. In this predicament the county judge and two county commissioners got out of the machine and walked ahead, carrying flashlights to see where the road was and Mrs. McCutley drove slowly at the heels of the officials. The party also stopped to answer in getting back out of the ditch. Mrs. McCutley says she did not realize what good running time she was making or she could have brought the crowd to the Imperial several hours earlier. The Old Oregon Trail, over the Blue Mountains, at Kameila, Ore., almost accounted, there being about a mile more to do, according to the Willows description. Considering the time of year, the roads the entire distance between Portland and Joseph are in splendid condition.
