"MY DAD" TO-DAY AND TOMORROW

Johnnie Walker of "Over the Hill" fame comes again to the Sherry Theatre in a newly dramatic story called "My Dad." "My Dad" is based upon the nobility of sacrifice. The son, played by Mr. Walker, risks his life, undergoes the tortures of numbing cold, the dangers of frozen trails, to procure the evidence that proves his father innocent.

Built up to a smashing climax, in which is depicted one of the most thrilling hand to hand conflicts ever filmed upon the screen. It was were to make a choice between the fight scene and the fight scene in "The Noble David," we would hesitate long before making our decision. Personally we think that the fight in "My Dad" is more thrilling and that it is done with a trifle more realism thanks to the skillful acting of Johnnie Walker, who is at home in this type of role.

Still another striking feature of this production is the snow-storm, grand hour of the mountain amid which the action takes place. The vastness of the snow lands, the utter desolation of winter, the loneliness of the trails, frozen tight from the numbing cold all combine to make a picture of rare pictorial effectiveness. It is a production well worth seeing.

Also showing a comedy.

HOLT A FIGHTING PERSON

Jack Holt has the unusual role of a Fighting Larson in his latest Paramount picture, "While Satan Sleeps," which comes to the Arcade Theatre Wednesday and Thursday. He is not actually a person in the story, for he only assumes that disguise in order to safely spy out a little town in which even he and his pal plan to rob. But even at that, there is no disguise in the way he fights, especially when a dainty girl shows him the error of his ways and another beautiful girl proves to him that she loves him for the man he appears to be. Then he fights not only his enemies, but wages a terrific battle for the regeneration of his own soul. Which is all by way of saying that the picture is one long punch from beginning to end, and that it teems with heart interest. Fritz Brunette plays opposite the star.

POST MADE STAGE HISTORY IN "THE MASQUERADE"

Before starting on the filming of "The Masquerader," Guy Bates Post's first screen vehicle which will be seen at the Arcade Theatre next Monday this distinguished actor appeared in the stage version for over two thousand performances. Under the management of Richard Wilson Tully, who presents the film as he did the play, Post has been seen in the leading dual roles of this story in every city of importance in the United States and Canada. He also toured Australia for half a year. These performances have covered a space of over six years and in all this time Post has never missed a show. Regardless of weather, or poor train connections, Guy Bates Post has always kept faith with the public which expected to see him.
