LEATHER MITTS TO FLASH SOON

Frankie Dean Making Ready for Ten-Round Go with Allie Nelson; Both Men Are Fast.

The thud of leather covered mitts, affixed to the arms of lightweights that have long been in the ancient and honorable game of "give and take," will be heard in the Eagles hall Thursday night. Two fighters, in the lightweight class, will end a card that is top-notch, each of the main eventers having a record that assures a thrilling fight, before a crowd of La Grande fans. Both men are in the pink of condition and look towards a victory. Both men are tough nuts for their opponents to crack and both are clever footwork artists and slug slingers. And the sportsmen of the city are waiting for the referee to introduce them, with eager anticipation of a night that will not be forgotten in annals of local boxing history.

Frankie Dean, of Pueblo, Colo., will face Allie Nelson, of Boise, who has appeared before local fans before, in the main event of the boxing card under the auspices of the La Grande boxing commission and just before these two boys get going, Kid Sarp, of La Grande, will endeavor to hang the can on Bulldog Woodfin, of Baker. Two fast preliminaries will open up the evening's entertainment.

No Championship Claims.

"I don't claim to be a champion," asserts Frankie Dean, who has been in La Grande since the first of the year training for the fight. "I'm just a hard working pugilist and I figure on doing my best every time I appear." A close scrutiny of his record shows that he did his best time and again to the satisfaction of the spectators and sports writers. He is working out at the Y. M. C. A. every evening and a crowd of fans are generally present sizing him up.

Allie Nelson needs no touting. Locally he is known and many consider him one of the best in the Inland Empire. He hails from the capitol city of the state of Idaho ad is a shifty, hardhitting fighter. A perusal of his record shows that his fights have been many and his losses have been few. Knockout victories are prominent in the past doings of both Dean and Nelson.

Constipation.

Constipation of the bowels is a stoppage of the sewerage system that removes waste matter from the body. It is as necessary that your bowels move regularly once each day, to carry off this waste, as it is that the waste pipes of your home be kept open and carry off the waste from the house. If you would enjoy good health, keep your bowels regular by taking Chamberlain's Tablets when needed.—Adv.
