WOOL GROWERS CONVEENE SOON

Oregon Wool Growers Association Will Get Cut Rates from Pendleton to Convention.

Special rates on the certificate plan have been secured by Secretary Max Hoke for the Oregon Woolgrowers convention. Woolgrowers who plan on attending should pay the full fare to Pendleton, getting a receipt for the same. If they are in attendance, a one-half fare return trip will be received. A similar arrangement has been made in regard to the National Woolgrowers convention to be held in Spokane January 25 and 26. Those who are planning on attending both conventions should buy their tickets to Pendleton then re-buy to Spokane in order that the Oregon convention may have the benefit of your fare. The rate will apply to points in Idaho, Oregon and Washington with sale dates January 24 to 29, return good until February first.

Frank Hagenborth, president, and F. H. Marshall, secretary of the National Woolgrowers Association, will deliver addresses on Saturday, January 27. President J. H. Doherty's annual address is always worth listening to. Dr. N. W. McQuay, former secretary of the national association, has been invited to attend.

One interesting feature of this year's convention will be the discussion led by Hugh Sprout, president of the Idaho Woolgrowers Association and vice president of the Idaho branch of sheep commission and the W. H. Little regarding disease conditions among Oregon sheep. At present Idaho is maintaining a quarantine against Oregon sheep on account of scab. There seems to be considerable difference of opinion as to the extent of this disease.

Stanley Jewett will take up the matter of predators, animal control. At present there is a move on foot to abolish the county bounty without making any provision to take care of government hunters who might possibly do more efficient work. E. N. Kinnaman will deal with the important subject of range contracts. H. A. Ward, president of the Oregon Co-operative Council and manager of the Pacific Woolgrowers Association, will discuss cooperative marketing.

J. T. Jording, director of the Oregon experiment stations, will handle the question of the relationship between the experiment stations and the wool growers' problems.

Last year's annual banquet will be long remembered by the wool growers. Something just as good is projected again this year.

FRUITGROWERS ORGANIZE

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Jan. 11.—Leading fruit growers of Washington, Oregon and Idaho, at a meeting held here yesterday, organized the Inland Empire Co-operative Federation with the following officers: J. L. Dumas, Dayton, president; John W. Langdon, Walla Walla, vice-president; Paul A. Weyrauch, Walla Walla, secretary-treasurer.

Purpose of the organization is to bring about through co-operation the orderly marketing of fruits in the Inland Empire, to standardize grades and pack, orchard warehousing and accounting practices; to co-operate in buying of supplies and to conduct an advertising campaign throughout the country.

There would be fewer disputes if good neighbors legal where charity dwells.

(By Associated Press)
SEATTLE, Jan. 11.—Reports of a break in athletic relations between Stanford University and the University of Washington were denied here in a letter from J. F. Mitchell, Stanford representative in the Pacific Coast conference, made public here by George G. Atlow, president of the Seattle Stanford Alumni Association.

FIVE DEAD RESULT OF PIT EXPLOSION

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 11.—Entering the pit after a warning that it was dangerous, five miners met death in Dolomite mine No. 1 of the Woodward Iron company, near here early Wednesday in a gas explosion. The men were killed instantly according to reports to newspapers here. Four were negroes and the fifth, W. E. Lewis, 33, white.

Dolomite No. 1 about two miles from Dolomite No. 3 where 90 miners were killed last November in a gas explosion and is part of the same seam of coal worked by the Woodward Iron company.

The blast was confined to one "room" in the mine. All that prevented greater loss of life was that few men were in the pit at that hour. Gas had been discovered in the mine and warnings posted instructing the men not to enter.

PENDLETON CASE CONTINUES

PENDLETON, Ore., Jan. 11.—Alvin Shasher, who, with his brother James, 70,000 acres in Umatilla county, took the stand today as the defendant in a $40,000 damage suit brought by one of his ex-ranch hands for the alienation of the affections of the ranch hand's wife.

W. F. Conley is the plaintiff. Shasher denied practically every allegation of the plaintiff and was supported in his testimony by more than half a dozen witnesses. When court adjourned for the day both plaintiff and defendant had rested their cases. The rebuttal and arguments are expected to be completed tomorrow, when the case will go to the jury. A packed courtroom heard the sensational testimony.
