

ASSOCIATION AIM IS TOLD

General Secretary of Local Y. M. C. A. Tells of Ideals of the Institution.

A continent-wide religious movement now in progress among Y. M. C. A. of North America, and recent action taken by them in convention for closer relationships with the churches, has increased the impetus to the religious purpose and work of the Association. Its local representatives, pointing out that frequently even members and supporters of the Association do not understand that the purpose underlying all its activities is a spiritual one, state that they welcome these inquiries.

"By origin, history and profession," said A. E. Fryke, "the association here and elsewhere throughout the world is dedicated to spiritual productivity in the life of men and boys. When we say 'spiritual,' we mean it in its broad sense, not alone in its religious implications. No matter what activity an Association secretary may be directing—physical, social or educational, as well as religious—he is not regarded as serving properly, unless his work brings spiritual results, developing among those with whom he deals a larger desire and power for service according to Christian ideals.

"This implies a reliance by the Association upon the content of the churches in its community and a readiness on their part to sustain and advise in the work of this specialized agency. That the relationship between the church and the association is close is indicated by the fact that a majority of the lay and employed officers of the association movement generally are officers, leaders or conductive workers in their respective churches.

"But it is important, we feel, that the relationship should be made even more intimate and practical. One of the recommendations of the recent international convention of the Y. M. C. A. of North America was that each denomination appoint officially a committee to further the closest and most helpful relationships, and a proposal that the association movement in turn form a council composed of one member of each denomination. These recommendations were made by a commission composed of representative clergymen and of lay and employed officers of the association following extended study of the whole matter."

SENIORS PLAN PRESENT PLAY

"Come Out of the Kitchen" is the title of the next dramatic production to be presented by the high school. The Senior class will be sponsors for the production, which will be produced by special arrangement with Samuel Smith, the author of New York. The dates have been set for March 9-10, the site to be the high school auditorium.

The play, which is a three-act comedy, has eleven members of the cast with several character parts. The cast has not been selected yet but tryouts for the eleven parts will be held shortly.

DAIRYMEN WILL HEAR GOVERNOR

Leading dairy and college specialists, stenographers and business directors will be heard at the thirteenth annual convention of the Oregon Dairy-farmers League to be held at Albany January 13 and 14.

Governor Price, a farmer and livestock man who has championed various constructive and protective measures for the industry, will be a chief speaker at the banquet Thursday night. W. H. Doolan, manager of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, and head of the development plan fostered by the Portland body, will discuss the aims and methods of the new development.

Feeding, management, care and sale of dairy cattle will be discussed by P. A. Franks of Eugene, and H. C. Jones of the college staff.

Control of infectious abortion, a dairy cattle disease recently declared by a member of the Washington legislature to be the latest cause of lower production rates, will be outlined by D. T. Rhine, head of veterinary medicine at O. A. C. His studies have added much new information.

Factors in cost of milk production will be explained by R. V. Gunn of the college extension service, who will present figures from leading Oregon dairymen obtained in recent studies.

Farmers' coöperative association will be discussed by M. O. Rice, who has helped set several such associations on their feet.

William Schindlerick, one of Oregon's best known dairymen and C. L. Hawley, state dairy and food commissioner, will speak Friday morning. He is a member of the national dairy bureau committee of eleven.

Harry Tucker, preacher and dairymen and good at both, will give some results of cow testing work. J. A. Seiffert, president of the Washington Dairymen's association, will tell how farmers across the Columbia put it across.

P. M. Hurdell, secretary of the association and head of the dairying at the college, next time will be provided for speakers and discussions. The banquet will be served by the Albany Chamber of Commerce.

The Ashland Tidings tells of an hen in that city, belonging to Mrs. W. D. Booth, that has laid 29 eggs in 28 days. She selected Christmas day for the additional egg.

YEAR STARTS CHEERFULLY SAYS BABSON

action is that the war killed, crippled, and shocked a great mass of workers. We complain that men are anxious to be clerks instead of plasterers, but the real truth is that the physical conditions of wage workers has, thru war and other causes, so deteriorated them that only a small portion of the men have, today, the physical endurance to do the hard manual work.

"It, therefore, will be seen that we are starting the year under very happy circumstances. The Babson-chart this week registers minus 3 per cent. Our job during 1923 will not be to open the throttle wider but to hold the property which we have today. This is the task before us. To this end we must work. This means," concluded Mr. Babson "that we must substitute service for greed, without a strong and broad foundation for indolence, efficiency for inefficiency, and an honest desire to give a dollar of service and material for every dollar that we get. If we do this our present good conditions could continue thru 1923; but if we again get careless, business will again quickly fall off, because these better conditions cannot continue we must substitute service for greed, without a strong and broad foundation on which to build and grow."

SULPHUR CLEARS ROUGH, RED SKIN

Face, Neck and Arms Easily Made Smooth, Says Specialist

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation begins at once to soothe irritated skin and heal eruptions such as rash, pimples and itchy worms.

It seldom fails to remove the torment and disfigurement, and you do not have to wait for relief from embarrassment. Improvement quickly shows. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

Punching the Clock---

By the very act of summoning electricity to your command you punch the time clock and the work is started immediately, when service desired has been given you again punch the time clock and work is ceased immediately and the charge for that service stops at the same time. The total time worked is registered on the dials of the electric meter which is installed at your premises.

You, as your own household manager, can check up the actual service given each month by the simple process of subtracting the reading on the dials at the time the meter man checks your "time clock," or meter from the reading taken next month. These readings show on your bill each month.
