COPS CAN'T TESTIFY

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Jan. 25.—City employes are forbidden to appear in any court in any manner in the defense of anyone accused of violating the state or federal laws in connection with the use or possession of liquor or narcotics.

Action to this effect was taken today when the city commission adopted this motion, prepared by the mayor, Ben F. Hill.

"I move that it be the sense of the city commission that no employe of the city of Walla Walla appear in any court in any way in defense of anyone charged with a violation of the laws of the United States or the state of Washington relative to the use or possession of narcotics or intoxicating liquors."

The order does not bar any from obeying a subpoena from a court, it was explained.

PORT BUSINESS GROWS

(By The Associated Press)

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 25—A steady growth in port business here for 1922 is indicated in the annual report of W. G. Rowland, harbor master. The report shows that 1,341 vessels arrived in the port during 1922, an increase of 305 compared with 1921. The tonnage for 1922 was 3,252,690, compared with 2,314,170 last year. Mr. Rowland says the increase is due to the development of inter-coastal trade, and to the operation of the public docks of the Port of Tacoma.

ALMA RUBENS RISKS LIFE IN CANADIAN WILDS

Featured Player in "The Valley of Silent Men" Has Many Thrilling Experiences.

While Alma Rubens has never posed as an athlete, in "The Valley of Silent Men," a new Cosmopolitan creation based on James Oliver Curwood's novel of the same name, which comes to the Arcade theatre today, she performs some feats of endurance which prove her an outdoor woman. Cosmopolitan sent a company under the direction of Frank Borzage up into the Canadian Rockies to film the story amid the scenes where the author conceived it. For twelve weeks Miss Rubens and Mrs. Borzage were the only women with the company, sharing all the inconveniences and dangers of camping in the northern wilds.

Miss Rubens learned to drive a dog-sledge, and her first appearance in the picture is when she is seen afar off piloting her team of "huskies" across the snowy wastes. Then when supposed to be lost in the mountains, she is seen tramping for miles through the deep snow, climbing steep peaks, and finally slipping and falling into a crevasse of the great glacier above Lake Louise.

Again with Lew Cody as her companion, Miss Rubens leaped from a boat which was about to go over the rapids into the icy waters of the Kipewa river, and swam to the shore. But before they landed they were obliged to duck under the water and remain submerged for fully a minute, while the pursuing police passed by in a motor boat without seeing them. But even this experience did not chill the ardor of the young actress.

"I never worked so hard in my life," says Miss Rubens, "but in that cold, embracing air, amid wonderful scenery, it seemed like play. When spring came into 'The Valley of Silent Men,' and we finished the picture in flowery meadows surrounded by snowy peaks, it was like Paradise—except for the deer flies.

"There's always a fly in the honey,' and a deer fly can put more 'punch' into its performance than any insect I have ever got acquainted with. But I returned from that expedition full of 'pep' and ozone, and feeling that I had enjoyed the finest 'outing' of my life."

"BROTHERS UNDER THE SKIN."

A story of two married couples, in contrasting stations of life, whose carriages were threatened with shipwreck due to the wife's desire to avoid the responsibilities of life and have a good time, is told with genuine dramatic power, with an interesting mingled vein of comedy, in "Brothers Under the Skin," the Goldwyn picture by Peter B. Kyne, which comes to the Sherry Theater Today for two days.

Starting with an absorbingly interesting situation, Author Kyne and Director E. Mason Hopper have developed it with a feeling for veracity, for drama and for real comedy that makes "Brothers Under the Skin," a moving and entertaining transcript of life as it often lived by the married. The poor shipping clerk in a plumbing establishment is having the same sort of trouble with his irresponsible wife as is the vice-president of his company. The shipping clerk, obtaining entrance to the wealthy vice-president's home on an errand, sees him get the better of his wife (partly as a result of the timely presence of the clerk) and he goes home and does likewise with his helpmate. He proves to her that he means to be master and dictate affairs in his own household. The result in two wives sharing in their husbands' lives and happy in their babies.

Goldwyn gave Director Hopper a remarkably fine cast for this film, the shipping clerk and his wife being played by Pat O'Malley and Helene Chadwick, the vice-president and his wife by Norman Kerry and Claire Windsor, with Mae Busch as an apartment house divorcee thrown in for good measure. "Brothers Under the Skin" is said to be a genuine screen comedy with an appealing leaven of drama in its composition; and so human and veracious that the spectator feels he knows intimately each character revealed.

Comedy showing, "Felix Wakes Up."

LIQUOR DEATHS AGAIN ON RISE

(By Associated Press)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 25.—Deaths from alcoholism, which reached the lowest number in California in 1920, after the federal prohibition enforcement act had diminished the supply of liquor, are once more on the increase, according to figures given out by L. E. Ross, of the bureau of vital statistics of the California State Board of Health.

The year 1920, in the belief of Ross, marked the ebb of the liquor traffic as well as the number of deaths attributed to alcoholism. That was because, Ross believed, the bootleggers had not yet become organized and there was little drink, legal or illegal, obtainable. But since that year, the figures indicate, there has been a steady increase in the number of alcoholism deaths until, for the first eleven months of 1922, the total reached 102.

In 1917, said by Ross to have been an average pre-Volstead year, there were 240 deaths in the state from alcoholism. The next year, due to the war-time regulation of liquor consumption, the number decreased to 192 and in 1919 it fell to 86. From the low point of 27 in 1922, there has been a gradual increase to 69 in 1921. The 102 deaths for 11 months of last year indicates, Ross said, that there has been a more successful evasion of the provisions of the Volstead act.

The state board of health has no figures on the number of deaths due to bad liquor, although in 10 months of 1922, there were six deaths from wood alcohol and three from denatured alcohol.

GERMANY TOY TRADE BIG

TOKIO, Jan. 25.—Germany has completely recaptured that portion of the world's toy trade which Japan took away from her during the war. Japan, in 1920, exported toys valued at approximately Yen 18,000,000, but 1922's trade was a little more than Yen 6,000,000, the same as 1921.

Japanese newspapers complain that the loss of the toy trade is due to the flimsiness of the Japanese toys.

Glass of Salts Cleans Kidneys

If your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you, drink lots of water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract.

Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus often ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

Where thickness of a Hair Equals a Mile

THE hair of a human head averages from two to three thousandths of an inch, and if motor service shop work is based on accuracy so coarse as a "hair's breadth," only poor results can be obtained.

Automobiles may be designed alike, and look the same, yet one, because of precise fits, has more power, speed and less vibration. When pistons and cylinder bores are held to limits of one thousandth plus or minus, it means that often a piston .001 undersize goes into a bore which is .001 oversize; and, in case of a three-inch piston, instead of having a wall clearance of .003 .001 for each inch of piston diameter) it has .005 and becomes an "oil-pumper"—an error of less than an average hair's breadth, yet, the results could have been no worse had it been a "mile."

Avoid errors as broad as a hair and for closely fitted pistons and perfectly ground cylinders have your repairmen bring your cylinder block to us for regrinding and piston assembling.
