

MUCH SNOW AT THE PARK NOW

THE PARK, Feb. 19.—News of the death of Mrs. Adeline Chase, of Detroit, Mich., reached her son, John S. Hunter, by a telegram, stating that she died at 2:34 a. m. Friday, the 16th. Her health had been poor for some time, while it was almost expected, the sad news was a shock to the bereaved family.

Granita Hunter was transferred to the lower cabin of Ed Miller.

Charles Vanderhorst butchered some fine hogs last week.

The folks at Raymo "flat are getting along in the very finest way," reports Mrs. Lola Wigglesworth. Her little family is all well now and all are very active.

J. W. Lay, the stage driver, brought a load of supplies to the Hunters at the Parks on Thursday.

Joseph Lay was hauling hay from Big Creek last week.

Kenneth Vanderhorst and his father, Charles, are getting wood; preparing for the spring's busy work.

The Godlay boys were hauling hay which they brought very fresh way on lower Catherine.

Ed Gillespie received the parts for his drag saw which is working now very nicely.

Mr. Griffith, down the creek, has a nice lot of wood cut, piled and ready for the market.

A. J. Vanderventer may have to buy some hay for his large bunch of cattle, if the winter don't let up pretty soon.

The snow at the summit measured 4 1/2 feet on Thursday of last week.

Thirteen inches was the deepest at the Park. This was measured on Thursday of last week, but on Saturday, it had gone down to 24 inches.

The snowfall from the first snow that fell last fall, amounts to 64 inches, as measured at every snowfall from a large stump which is cleaned off every time to be measured at the next. This measurement is reported at the Parks.

Gibetto Lay was somewhat laid up with a cold last week, but is getting along the very best at the last report.

The young folks of the Park occasionally go to the dances at Big Creek, which are given weekly. They all have a splendid time.

Ivna Vanderhorst is going to school every day and is learning well from the excellent teacher they have.

The deer are not hunched up like they generally are this time of the year. It is very unusual to see them scattered. The reason is due to the changeable weather we had. It never has been cold enough and long enough to make them bunch up in big bands. But they can be seen most any day by two and four, on the bare spots here and there on the south side of the north hills, close to the rim-rocks of the ridge.

It looks more like spring than when the ground fog "saw his shoulder"—then it was feared that the calamitous old saying might prove true. But the Park people, don't mind any pessimistic forecasts—we're here first and we're here to stay. We must conform to the conditions and not try to conform to the conditions as we would have them.

Helping the Dealer to Sell

Every manufacturer appreciates, in some degree, the importance of helping the retailer sell his product. And yet in many instances that degree is very small. It can hardly be compared in importance—so thinks a certain type of manufacturer—with selling the product to the dealer.

It is nothing short of a false assumption, unsound and untrustworthy, to think that merely stocking up the dealer with a product constitutes effective distribution. Effort of that kind, it is true, may dispose of a lot of goods, but it does not sell them. Unless the consumer comes in prepared or disposed to buy them they will remain on the shelf of the dealer, re-orders will be impossible, and the whole product will be a failure.

The safest alternative is for the manufacturer to create a consumer demand through Advertising. This will help the dealer move the goods, and then he will order more.

Advertising is as much a basic part of the business of the manufacturer of any specific trade-marked product as is production and distribution. It is not something that can be considered merely as an expense to be curtailed to the minimum. It is a creative influence which, more than any other thing after the merit of the product, determines the extent of the consumer demand.

Too often the manufacturer thinks of his advertising as a clever means of impressing the dealer with the desirability of stocking up with his goods, and he does enough to accomplish that effect, and then expects the dealer to move the goods. This is a mistaken use of advertising and it quickly reacts upon the manufacturer.

It is the business of the dealer to provide the goods which the public demand. He would be foolish to do otherwise, and would soon cease to be a dealer. It is the business of the manufacturer—meaning specifically, the manufacturer of a trade-marked article, or one that might be trade-marked—to create a consumer demand by means of Advertising.
