

PARK AWAITING SPRING COMING

THE PARK. Mar. 13.—Mrs. Ida M. Hunter received the sad news of the untimely death of her nephew, Will Cates, age 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Cates of Tacoma, Wash. Some time ago while working in the railroad shop a heavy plate of steel fell on his leg, necessitating amputation of his right foot. He stood it well until the loss of his foot, which according to the letter received, made him lose courage and could not survive the ordeal.

L. F. Ingram, logger of Union, has gone back to North Powder, after recuperating from a late accident which kept him home for two weeks.

Louis Fisk moved into the old Haller house at Little Park after the fire which completely destroyed his home.

The young folks report a grand time at the dance given at James Hanson's at Big Creek last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Miles were both laid up with a cold, but are not seriously ill.

Mrs. Roy Jones was reported on the sick list with a cold and sore throat, but getting along nicely at the last news.

Frank Wigglesworth was a Union visitor on business yesterday from his ranch at Raymo Flat.

Joseph Lay is busy repairing fences in preparation for his big crop he intends putting in this spring.

Mrs. S. Gossay went to the school social last Saturday.

J. W. Lay has made good records so far with the mail, having missed only two days of not making his regular trips the same day.

Roy Jones bought 42 tons of hay from Ed Miles. This Mr. Jones asserts, may put him through the winter's feeding of his stock.

Joseph Foster was helping Roy Jones haul hay the first part of the week.

Ed Gillispie is not quite over a severe cold contracted some time ago, but is improving nicely.

High Valley Snow Gone.

Late news tells that the snow is all gone at High Valley. Preparations for an early crop is on the way.

The mail man reports that the roads are quite bad through Antelope valley, leaving Telocaset.

A. J. Vanervanter is busily engaged making preparations to put in his crop as early as possible.

Kenneth Vander has a fine supply of wood all cut up ready for the spring work.

The snow is going down at a rapid rate; all the side hills are bare from the Forks down the creek.

The five or six men at the old South place are busily engaged in cutting fence posts. They report that they have trapped a considerable amount of various animals, including 19 coyotes and some red foxes and a silver tip. They were heard to say that they will move over to Badger Flat in the near future, where they have another line of traps.

The creek don't swell up as usual.

This proves that the water seeps into the ground, which will hold moisture for a long time, assuring better crops in the valley.

Nearly all are prepared to put in their crops, waiting for the weather—although it is as if spring had made its appearance, it is rather early as yet, to decide on heavy work. Though we are late here in putting seeds in the ground, we generally gather our harvest at about the same time as in the lower country—and the Park is never known to have a failure.

IRRIGATION TRIP STATED

SALEM, Or., Mar. 13.—The members of the state irrigation and drainage securities commission will leave for Vale on March 19, where they will make a complete inspection of the Warm Springs irrigation project. This district, which is one of the largest in eastern and central Oregon, has requested that the state extend its guarantee of interest on securities issued by the project for periods ranging from six months to one year.

The commission is composed of the governor, state engineer, state treasurer, state superintendent of banks and attorney-general. The inspection trip was arranged at the request of Governor Pierce, who is opposed to the state guaranteeing interest on irrigation bonds unless such a course is absolutely necessary.

Try first—washes with hot water for three or four minutes in the hope to melt and ten gallons of turpentine, half a pint of kerosene and one or two home-made soap.

Boil thirty-six hours, then strain through a cloth. We seek to keep it from setting. Add one grain of salt to each pint to give it a kick that will keep it from setting. If it takes the enamel off it is ready for boiling.—City Goods Economic.

The film that works like the human eye

DULL light, bright light or light intensities in between, the human eye never misses the picture before it.

The New Anasco Speedex Film works much the same. It adapts itself to a wider range of light conditions than has been true with film of the past.

For better, clearer pictures not once in a while but regularly insist on the new Anasco Speedex Film. It fits any camera.
