WOMEN WILL ENJOY
KNIGHTHOOD PHOTOPLAY
 Marion Davies Delighted as Royal Princess in Great Picture Production
 Who says women have not a sense of humor?
 They say "It takes a thief to catch a thief," and by the same token it takes a woman to catch a woman in the subtle little tricks which are used to outwit a man. That's why women who see the Paramount-Cosmopolitan production "When Knighthood Was in Flower," starring Marion Davies, will chuckle with enjoyment in certain scenes where the men are absent.

These feminine outbursts of merriment come at various times when Marion Davies, as Princess Mary Tudor, uses the strategy known to all the sisters of Eve in order to cajole the stubborn brother, King Henry VIII. Mary's adroit appeal to Henry's vanity when she wants him to release Charles Brandon, who she loves; her clever trick of remaining in bed when the French ambassador calls and shocking King Henry by pretending she is about to jump out scantily clad—these and similar incidents unite the women of the audience in a common bond.

 SALEM, April 12.—Owing to the failure of Washington and California to pass an eight-hour law for the timber industry, the eight hour law passed by the Oregon legislature, contingent upon the action of neighboring states, will not go into effect May 24. Labor Commissioner Gram announced.
