REMARKABLE STORY OF MOTHER DECEPTION IN "SONNY"

One of the most remarkable coincidences of the late war, a dual resemblance by which a returning veteran is mistaken for one of his buddies who has gone "west," furnishes the situation upon which are founded the stirring developments in "Sonny," the third First National attraction starring Richard Barthelmess, which will be shown at the Arcade Theatre for three days commencing Thursday.

Peters, ex-poolroom proprietor, returns from France to find himself taken for Sonny Crosby, scion of a wealthy, aristocratic Westchester family, by the late Sonny's blind mother. Overwhelmed by this appeal and faced by the necessity of carrying out the deception the poolroom proprietor begins to change his ways to meet the new influence of his life.

Instead of the customary bad man-gone man story that has come to be associated with such plots of regeneration the author has written a compellingly human story of tense emotional appeal and heart throbs. The part of Joe Peters is one of the characters taken by the star, who portrays it simply and with the same tense interpretation that marked his interpretation of the title role of "Tobacco David."

"Sonny" was originally presented to the amusement world as a stage play by George Hobart, and Pauline Garon, who created the leading feminine part at that time, is Mr. Barthelmess' leading woman in the screen version. To remainder of the cast includes Margaret Seddon, Lucy Fox, Herbert Grimwood, Patterson Dial, Fred Nichols, James Terrell, Margaret Elizabeth Faulkner and Virginia Magee.

$30,000 PRIZE STORY TO BE SEEN AT STAR FRIDAY

The motion picture that won the $30,000 prize in the scenario contest conducted by the Chicago Daily News in which there were 32,000 entries will be seen in La Grande at the Star theatre for three days, beginning Friday. It is called "Broken Chains" and was written by T. W. Higginson, a well-known author, Miss Winifred Kimball of Apalachicola, Fla., and has been produced by Goldwyn, under the direction and personal supervision of Allen Holubar, one of the best known directors in the business.

Goldwyn gave the director a great cast in winsome Colleen Moore, Malcolm McGregor, the New Jersey youth who renounced a million to become a film actor, Ernest Torrence, Claire Windsor, Beryl Mercer, James Marcus, William Orlamond, Gerald Pring, Edward Peil and Leo Willis.

"Broken Chains" is a story of regeneration of an eastern youth who grows a cowboy when suddenly confronted by danger in his Long Island home. To escape the odium that confronts him, he goes to his ranch in the Redwood district of California and there meets and falls in love with Mercy Boone, the pitiful young wife of a brutal giant who keeps her chained in his lonely cabin. The youth champions the girl, even after having been brutally beaten up by her husband. He returns for a final conflict with Boone who meets his death in the trap he had set for the youthful champion. The picture is said to be most realistic and at the same time inspiring—a photoplay that appeals irresistibly to the heart and ranks high in the year's achievements on the screen.

SHERRY'S—LAST DAY 'HOUND OF THE BASKERVILLES'

As if the magic hand of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle were moving the famous old characters as they swept across the screen, "The Hound of the Baskervilles," greatest of all Sherlock Holmes adventures, possesses all of the abundant mystery and suspense that made the novel one of the greatest classics in the realm of detective fiction throughout the world. It was shown for the first time at the Sherry Theatre yesterday.

appears at midnight and gives forth a fiery glare as if it were a cloak of flame. These are thrilling scenes galore. But—and this should be noted especially—the picture at no time is permitted to become revolting or offensive in its pietization of the horrors caused by the blazing brute on the moors. Among the outstanding scenes are the hunting down of the deer its death at the hands of the great detective; the solving of the curse of the Baskervilles; the death of one of the plotters in the bog; the adventure in the cave and many others that combine to make "The Hound of the Baskervilles" entertainment of the most thrilling and interesting character. Also showing another "Fighting Blood" picture.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed with Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the musky mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.
