

Jack Tar Middy
Style No. 123

One—two—three! Say it over to yourself a couple of times and don't forget it.

For it identifies a Jack Tar Middy with every one of the features that has made the middy so important in the American girl's activities that no other garment has ever been able to replace it.

We picture it—of standard jeans in white only. Slash pocket. Yoke front. Three rows of white linen tape around collar and cuffs. Extra large silk embroidered emblem. Extra wide facing on hem. And warranted to live up to the test of "Rub 'em, tub 'em, scrub 'em, they come up smiling." $2 seems all too little for so many high class features. Sizes, 4 to 22 years, 34 to 42 bust.

We have dozens of other charming Jack Tar styles to show you. Ask to see them.

I. O. O. F. TO START A $300,000 TEMPLE

(By Associated Press) PORTLAND, April 26.—Governors of Oregon and Washington, city and state officials and officers and members of the Grand Lodges and Muscovite clubs from the two states were here today for the celebration incident to the laying of the corner stone of a new $300,000 Odd Fellows' temple. A torchlight parade, awakening memories of alien days, was a feature of the program. Ceremonies at the building site, a meeting at the auditorium, including initiation of a large class with Muscovite rites were other activities planned. An afternoon parade was arranged to precede the cornerstone laying, at which Governor L. P. Hart of Washington and Chief Justice Barnett of fine with his plowing which was done, and will start drilling in a few days.

Joseph Lay started drilling this week.

Kenneth Vanorder is contemplating putting in a large patch of potatoes. The fall wheat is showing wonderfully on the old Hubble place, which Clarence Vanorder has leased.

Lola Wigglesworth reports all in excellent trim over on Raymo Flat. Frank, her husband, is nearly done with his spring work.

Jack Haley went to High Valley last week reporting the little valley in tip-top condition, most all work done for the spring.

L. J. Foster is recuperating fast from his recent illness.

Ed Gillespie is busy at his spring work.

Ray Jones has a little more plowing to do which he expects to have done in a few days.

Grange Grass Thriving. Two cattlemen were up the creek looking over the condition of the range for their cattle. They report the grasses in better shape than last year at this time.

The little school down on the creek is well attended and Fred Haller, deputy assessor, is making the rounds assessing property of the district. He had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Younger, Friday.

Perhaps one of the most superb affairs that the Methodist Ladies Aid Society have put on for some time, was the six-course banquet that was served to the Young Woman's Educational Auxiliary Tuesday at seven o'clock p. m. at the home of Mrs. C. E. Short.

The beautiful home was made even more attractive, as throughout the spacious rooms, floral decorations were in profusion. Tulips and jonquill were most tastefully arranged in the living rooms, while pink roses and sweet peas converted the dining room into a bower of beauty. The roses for the occasion were presented by Mrs. Proeger.

The sumptuous dinner which was most pleasantly served by five dainty maids, Helga Mohr, Kinora Finnes,

Elizabeth Payton, Helen Williams, and Carrie Burbridge, would indeed be hard to surpass. Only the glow from the pink candles was in evidence while the last course was served, and this seemed to blink every one's spirits even more harmoniously. The banquet was a fitting climax for the year's activities.

Miss Bertha Walsinger as president of the club acted as toast mistress.

The following ladies responded to toasts which were not only pleasing and instructive, but full of enthusiasm: Friendship, Mrs. E. Epling; Our Art Study, Miss Blanch Clark; Our Music, Mrs. Ira Aldrich; Our Literature, Miss Johnson; Our New Members, Miss Esther Rohrer; The Object of the Club, Mrs. H. S. Brown.

Mrs. Sherwood Williams as chairman of the nominating committee submitted the following names as officers for the coming year, Mrs. H. E. Dixon, president; Miss Annette Johnson, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. A. W. Nelson, chairman of program committee; Cora H. Scott and Vera Walsinger, assistant committee.

Much credit is due all the committees that helped to make the evening one of such outstanding merit.

A number of ladies were pleasantly entertained at "500" Thursday afternoon, when Mrs. L. J. Ebert and Mrs. E. L. Ebert were hostesses at the home of the former.

Spring blossoms and cut flowers were used most attractively about the rooms, the color scheme of yellow and white being carried out in the decorations as well as in the score cards and place cards.

Following the play at yards, of which there were three tables, a dainty two-course luncheon was served.

The ladies present to enjoy the delightful party were Mrs. C. D. Good-nough, Mrs. L. W. Faulk, Mrs. Frank Rohrer, Mrs. Frank Clavinger, Mrs. G. E. Moran, Mrs. L. K. Sinton, Mrs. Walter Bennett, Mrs. Howard England, Mrs. England, Sr., Mrs. C. C. Cronn, Mrs. Catherine Harriman, Mrs. Caroline Cushman and Mrs. Hungerford.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Chambréau of Portland and their small granddaughter Barbara Ann Dougherty of Fresno, California, are visiting in La Grande at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Bouvy. Mrs. Bouvy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chambréau.
