CROPS GOING IN AT "PARK"

THE PARK, April 29.—Mrs. Mabel Munkel, of Lower Powder, is visiting her mother, Mrs. R. Gassett, this week.

Joseph Lay was over on Big Creek this latter end of the week.

John Lay, who resided on the 1200, Lundy place, has moved to Union.

J. W. (Dad) Lay had a big load with a heavy wagon, trailing his top boxes, behind, last Tuesday. The load was mail and freight.

Best Van was at the Springs and Big Creek on Wednesday.

Eugene McDowell, of Union, was a visitor at The Park, coming on horseback from his home in Union.

Charles Vanorder is progressing splendidly with his seedling and even-odd crop planting.

Kenneth Vanorder is seen in the field plowing from early morn till evening merrily singing along during his work.

Frank Winesworth, of Rayon Park, is well advanced with his spring work.

Orville Lay was at the Springs last week.

Udell Lay was visiting with his friend, Ned Fay, at "The Cottages," Medical Springs, on Sunday.

Ashture were in evidence at the Hall ranch last week but it is not yet learned who will run the place.

Jack Hayes is working at his strawberry field. Jack had some fine everbearing vines covering 4-2 acre, and the old variety.

Chas. McNair, fire warden, will soon move to his ranch from Union, where the family have their winter quarters.

Adm. Planting Crops.

John W. Orr, of Upper Big Creek, and resident farmer, was stricken with rheumatism this last winter necessitating his removal to the Hot Lake Sanatorium, this spring.

Lee Wilson, a neighbor farmer, headed a movement for the neighbors and friends to contribute team, machinery and labor in putting in his crop.

While Mr. Orr is not indignant he is an other farmer, and such help will be of great appreciation to his family.

The neighbors all joined in with a donation from The Park, headed by Joseph Lay and A. J. Vandevanter. Ten outfits were on the place Wednesday morning, more coming in until the entire crop and spring work will be done.

Several women went with their husbands to help care for the hungry workers and incidentally help Mrs. Orr do her spring housework, as she is overburdened with the quantities of care over her husband's illness, who it is reported has not improved since his removal to Hot Lake. This is the general idea of this community—to help when help is needed—and done in a true spirit.

Mr. and Mrs. Orr would afford to live and pay to have their crop put in, but the people of the creek and Big Creek do not believe in that way.

Two telephone poles have been a nuisance for over a week, due to the wire being shorted somewhere.

has been looked over, but the trouble has not been located.

Quite a number of anglers are taking the early and first days of open season and some report good catches but in fact the waters are too rich as yet.

Road Good.

The roads are all dried up and with the exception of a couple of places are all in excellent condition. But up the creek from Hunter's mill box they are too wet as yet for autos.

The mountain and lake groups are all scattered along the different high ridges now, all are having eggs—the reason of scattering making their nests, pair by pair, occupying an individual spot for their home during this season. There will be an abundant supply of them if they are not molested now and whoever kills a grouse or pheasant at this time of the year the law ought to be very severe on such unimportance.

This action settles a controversy which has continued for several years.
