 Whooping Cough.
 This is a very dangerous disease, particularly under five years of age, but when no paroxysms, coughing or other signs are present, it is easily cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Most people believe that it must run its course, not knowing that the time is very much shortened, and that there is little danger from the disease when this remedy is given. It has been used in many epidemics of whooping cough, with pronounced success. It is safe and pleasant to take. -Adv.

THEATRES
 STORY OF INTENSE HUMAN INTEREST IN "ADAMS' HUB"
 A story with real human interest in "Adams' Hub," Cecil B. De Mille's latest Paramount which will be shown at the Argade theater today, Friday and Saturday. The theme of the production is the untangling of the affairs of a husband and wife by their young daughter, a typical example of the sensible type of the modern girl.
 Anna Q. Nilsson, as Mrs. Ramsey, the wife of Michael Ramsey, a prosperous Chicago business man played by Milton Sills, has taken a fancy to M. Jaromir (Theodore Kosloff), the exiled king of Morania. Her husband, fearing that he is going to lose her, hits upon a plan to have Jaromir's country recall him to the throne.
 Morania is in need of funds, and Ramsey, an enormously rich man, buys up all the wheat in Morania and in return they recall Jaromir to his throne, and he is thus gotten out of the way. His wife returns to him, after realizing that her interest in Jaromir was only a passing fancy.
 The daughter, played by Pauline Garon, saves the mother from discovery while she is at the apartment of the king. Ramsey sees his wife's pocketbook on the table. Mathilda pops out from behind the curtain where she and her mother are concealed and says that she is the one that came to visit Jaromir.
 Ramsey is completely taken back, and tells her that she is an outcast and no man would marry her. Prof. Nathan Reade (Elliot Dexter) whom Mathilda had met at the customs inspection on her return from Europe steps up and professes his love. Mathilda and he are married, and everything turns out well in the end, thanks to the girl. Jaromir is punished by marrying a fat princess awaiting him in his native land.
 Mr. De Mille in this production, has inserted a sort of "vision" scene similar to the noted "hacchanal" scene in "Man of the Sea" showing the life of primitive man as compared to that of present day beings. You will be surprised to note that while centuries have passed since the era of the cave man, the love affairs of the entire human race are now much the same as they were in the time of the "steosaurus unglatus" or in plain English - the armored dinosaur.

SHERRYS, TODAY, TOMORROW
 Rupert Hughes' Finest Photoplay is Coming.
 An event of unusual interest and importance in the film theatres of the city is the approaching showing of Goldwyn's newest Rupert Hughes picture, "Souls for Sale." It will be the offering at the Sherry Theatre today and tomorrow. Mr. Hughes has here adapted to screen technique his novel of motion picture life in Hollywood. The result is that author-director's biggest achievement to date in the films. The romance and the thrill of movie making as well as the reality and romance in the personal life of screen players is truthfully depicted. Most of the incidents made use of by Mr. Hughes have been taken from happenings in his own companies or in those of directors of his acquaintance. We have his own word for that.
 The picture departs in certain instances from anything that its director has hitherto attempted; for the climax is one of the most magnificent spectacles ever filmed - the burning, during a terrific storm, of an entire circus. In his previous Goldwyn productions Mr. Hughes has achieved the spectacular in favor of the everyday events and personages of ordinary life. These qualities have endeared him to the public and they are to be found in "Souls for Sale," but the telling of the story called for the spectacular element and Mr. Hughes has taken full advantage of his opportunities along that line.
 The photoplay is much out of the ordinary, John Mescall having surpassed his former achievements at the crank. The circus scenes and the African desert scenes are marvels of composition and beauty.
 The cast is another of those incomparable ones which have made Goldwyn pictures stand out so prominently before the public. The six leading roles are acted by Eleanor Boardman, Mae Busch, Barbara La Marr, Frank Mayo, Richard Dix and Lew Cody. A dozen other prominent names might easily be picked from the cast.
 Also showing "Felix the Cat."

Lumbago
 This is a rheumatism of the muscles of the back. It comes on suddenly and is quite painful. Every movement aggravates the disease. Go or right. I had a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment in the house and this was applied to my back. It promptly drove away the pains and aches. -Adv.
 "I can honestly say that Chamberlain's Liniment cured me of lumbago a year ago last summer. When I began using it, I was flat on my back in bed and could not turn to the left or right. I had a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment in the house and this was applied to my back. It promptly drove away the pains and aches. -Adv."
