Fight of Ten Years Is Won by Holcomb

Portland Citizen Declares Tanlac Enabled Him to Win A Complete Victory Over Long-Standing Digestive Troubles.

"I'm now a hearty endorser of Tanlac," says H. H. Holcomb, of 1749 Foss Street, Portland, Oregon, "and the reason why is that the medicine has rid me of a case of indigestion I had suffered from for ten years."

"My stomach just seemed to be in a sour, acid condition all the time."

My food would never digest properly, but would lie in my stomach and blow me up as tight as a drum and cause me all kinds of trouble. I was continually bothered with constipation also, and felt any way but right.

"Well, sir, Tanlac just fit right in with my case, and did away with that indigestion and acid, bloating condition completely. In fact, it set my stomach in fine order. Everybody ought to know about Tanlac, it can't be lost."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

WATER PROJECT BACKED

(By Associated Press)
THE DALLES, May 14.—A project for irrigation of 5000 acres of land back of Grand Dalles, Wash., adjacent to The Dalles, by means of water conveyed by ditch from the Klickitat river, 18 miles distant, is being backed by a number of local business men, it became known here today. L. A. Duncanson of this city conceived the plan when he learned that power rights on the Klickitat, which long had tied up water for irrigation, had expired. He at once filed on water rights which have been approved by the state of Washington, he said today. The formation of an irrigation district, which would be bonded to provide money for the development, is contemplated. Engineers have been over the project, and estimate that water can be put on the ground at a maximum of $75 an acre. In view of the assurance by directors of The Dalles Oregon-Washington Bridges company that the steel bridge across the Columbia river at this point is almost certain to be built, the project would be of great importance to The Dalles should it be successful, it has been pointed out.
