Fashion Notes

Unusual Organzie Collar
Paris—An unusual little organzie collar shows here today has a deep slice of jabot both in front and in back. It is held around the shoulders of a narrow-necked gown by a draw string of ribbon, which allows a wide ruffle at the top of the collar.

Only Sleeveless to Elbow
London—One species of the sleeveless gown worn today is sleeveless only as far as just above the elbow. Here a sleeve of ornamental gauze or organzie, often expanding into a half-bloom. Except for a strap, the shoulders are quite bare. The sleeves are put on after the gown is donned.

Vogue for Ruffles
London—The vogue for ruffles was possibly interpreted in a one-part frock shown here today. Except for a snugly-fitted bodice of satin, the whole frock was made up of blue ribbons of different widths, seen on horizontally to resemble ruffles.

Red Hat Placed
New York—The red hat, especially the little red hat, has made a distinct place for itself this spring. In fact, it is a busy shape, it sometimes has a fantastically slashed and upturned brim. There are red hats and red hats but the reddest is the smartest just now.

Medieval Wedding Gowns
New York—In some of the all-forwarding Latin modes, the June wedding gown now being designed includes toward classic and medieval lines. The effect is of length and grace, the long train and the long veil invariably being used. Veils are generally closely fitted to the contour of the head.

Even or Rattling Headpiece
New York—There is no particular reason why the royal symbol of the Nile serpent should appear on a latching headpiece on exhibition today, but appear it does in fact on a turban of gold silk. The turban is accompanied by a jade bathing suit of satin, with golden Egyptian patterns.

Our patriotism is without limit, but somehow we feel a little depressed when we remember that America holds the long-distance dance record.

CRATER LAKE ROAD GOOD
ASHLAND, Ore., May 17.—Tourists who visit Crater lake this season will make the trip with ease, as practically all of the highway, with the exception of a nine-mile stretch between McLeod and Prospect, has been thoroughly rocked and rolled with a steam roller. At present it is possible to go beyond Union creek on this kind of road, this point being a short distance from the snow-line.

The season is fully three weeks in advance this year, according to Jim Grievs of Prospect, who has been in the locality for the past 12 years. The fall of snow in the mountains, particularly in the vicinity of Crater lake and between Ashland and Klamath Falls, has been below normal, and many of the old residents believe the supply of water will be very low by July.

Thursday afternoon at a refreshment given at Mrs. Phil Thompson was the scene of a very pretty wedding when her daughter, Bessie, became the bride of Clyde Webb in the presence of their immediate relatives and most intimate friends. William Crosby Ross, pastor of the First Presbyterian church officiated, reading the beautiful and impressive ring ceremony.

The bride was charming in a gown of light tulle and carried a beautiful bouquet of white roses. Miss Mildred Webb sang "I Love You" accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Bessie Ross.

The Thompson home was very prettily decorated for the occasion.

pink and white, maroon and spring tulle being used.

The bride is the charming daughter of Mrs. Phil Thompson of this city and for the past two years has been a teacher in the local schools. Mr. Webb is a resident of La Grande and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Webb of this city. He is employed by the Standard Oil company.

Following the wedding ceremony a family luncheon was served after which Mr. and Mrs. Webb left for Portland, Salem, and other western Oregon cities on a two weeks' wedding tour. They will return to La Grande where they will make their home. Their many friends extend to them their hearty congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reynolds entertained the March Club last evening at their home in Washington square. The tables were set at bridge and at the close of a delightful card session, Dr. Harry Rogers was announced winner of the club prize, and to Mrs. Charles Ringler went the grand prize.

The house was beautifully decorated in spring flowers, blending together in a pleasing and harmonious display.

At the conclusion of bridge, a delicious luncheon was served.

The Pottier Sisters will meet at the Pottier hall tomorrow night at 7:30 to make arrangements for attending the District Convention at Union, Tuesday, May 22nd, at 2:00.

La Grande people are pleased to know that the Philharmonic orchestra of Enterprise is soon to give a concert in this city. Dr. G. M. Beacock was over yesterday from Enterprise and stated that interest in the part of the orchestra has increased a remarkably good program and that everyone who enjoys orchestral music will have reason to attend the La Grande concert.

Charles I. F. E. O. will meet at the home of Mrs. Lucy Standfield, Friday afternoon at the usual hour.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Natural Color and Lustre at Once.

Comment: Sage tea penetrates into a heavy mass, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous. Mixing the Sage Tea and sulphur soap at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients a large bottle at little cost, at drug stores, known as "Webb's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While gray, faded hair is not youthful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By combining our hair with Webb's Sage and Sulphur Compound, to our own satisfaction it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen it with brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and lustrous and you appear years younger.

It is a fact, that the "Red" of Zerolene follows the changing piston clearances of the automobile engine more closely than other oils, no matter what price they sell at.

Zerolene, made from selected Napthenic-Base Crude oil, refined separately in the refinery, and manufactured by our exclusive high-pressure process, retains heat better, forms less carbon, and consequently the car lubricated with it will run from 25% to 30% farther without having valves or cylinders cleaned.

Zerolene reduces friction and wear to a greater extent than any lubricants we have seen and tested, so being able to produce for the automobile.

Learn of Zerolene—once it it does one full as much.
