

JOSEPH

invites you to visit the Joseph section of the Wallowa valley by rail or highway from La Grande, Oregon.

The Joseph district of the Wallowa valley is the most desirerable location in the Pacific Northwest.

WHY?

IT HAS

50,000 acres productive irrigated soil at from $50.00 to $125.00 per acre

Cheap and abundant water supply for irrigation at a charge of from 50c to $2.00 per acre.

30,000 acres dry farming land at from $25 to $50 per acre.

The most equable and healthful climate in Eastern Oregon.

Extensive bodies of virgin pine timber.

Adjoining forest reserves affording cheap pasturage for livestock.

WALLOWA LAKE---A mountain lake, six miles long; a marvel of nature in a superb setting of snow-clad mountain peaks.

IT OFFERS

EXCEPTIONAL OPPORTUNITIES FOR---

Farming on a large or small scale, where crop failure is unknown.

Stock raising under ideal conditions.

Dairying and hog raising where profits are assured.

Raising small fruits and vegetables for market.

Recreation in a hunters' and fishermen's paradise.

Numerous mountain lakes and streams stocked with trout and salmon; deer, bear and game birds in abundance.

It has been said by tourists, upon visiting this valley that its towering mountain peaks, its placid lakes and rushing streams enthrall the visitor, by its grandeur and its nature's wonderland of scenic beauty is an ever urgent call to return.
