"GRUMPY" FILLED WITH MYSTERY FROM START

A melodramatic picture that holds one's attention from start to finish, is William de Mille's Paramount production of "Grumpy," featuring Theodore Roberts, May McAvoy and Conrad Nagel, which is on view at the Arcade theatre today and Saturday.

Mr. de Mille has injected a great deal of mystery into "Grumpy." This mystery is wrapped around two tiny flowers, both gardenias. The story is laid around a young man, Conrad Nagel has this role, with whom has been trusted a diamond valued at half a million dollars. A gentleman crook (played by Casson Ferguson) steals the diamond. But he so cleverly conceals his part in the robbery that he is not suspected.

Two flowers change places during the robbery. One of the flowers has a strand of woman's hair around the stem. The other has not. Those two tiny bits of evidence go back and forth with dazzling speed. Just when you think Roberts as "Grumpy" will get the flower with the strand of hair and thus fasten the guilt of the robbery on Ferguson, something happens to the evidence. Of course, everything ends happily.

LAUGHS, THRILLS AND TEARS IN NEW FILM

If you want to laugh, thrill and grow tender, all in the too brief evening, take the reviewer's advice, and see "Are You a Failure?" For good clean, fast action he has seen nothing so far to equal it this season.

The hero, portrayed by Lloyd Hughes, is a failure, humiliated before everyone, he is made to feel his lack of pep and go the worse because of the reputation of his father as an intrepid river boss.

The love of the girl, played by Madge Bellamy, and an advertisement seen by chance and headed by the pertinent inquiry, "Are You a Failure?" decided his fate. He sends for the course of instructions, and immediately things begin to happen. He is caught in a log jam, he quells a riot, whips his worst and most bullying enemy, and is almost carried over the falls on a log before his course is complete. Without spoiling your pleasure it may be said that the conclusion leaves nothing to be desired.

Lloyd Hughes and Madge Bellamy are already becoming famous as a team. They have acted in many big time specials together, while little Madge Bellamy has played the little role in "Lorna Doone," and the lead opposite Douglas McLean in "The Hotentot." The villain needs no introduction, for wherever pictures are shown, "Tom Sawyer," "The Story of the Hour," "The Sign of the Cross," "The Sign of the Cross," and "Rich Man's Wife" with a cast, headed by House Peters and

H. P. Schulberg, by the way, is the man under whose supervision were produced "Shadows," "The Sign of the Cross" and "Rich Man's Wife" with a cast, headed by House Peters and

Sunday Supper Guests, Hungry as Hunters—Give them Hot Sandwiches

There's something satisfying about a hot supper you don't get with any cold repast.

When that unexpected group of hungry people leans down upon you, don't get flustered. Let the hostess job slip out to the kitchen and place a lot of bread for toasting, then open a tin of sandwiches!

In fifteen minutes you can have ready a handful of Florentine Sandwiches—hot sandwiches—nutritious enough to do a day's work and—original enough to build you a reputation as a clever hostess—every bite tasting like "Omelette Ammie!"

FLORENTINE SANDWICHES

Here is the recipe originated and tested by Mrs. Farmer's famous school of Cookery:

Arrange home-made margarine on a slice of buttered toast, cover with thin slices of tomato and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Cover with another slice of toast, sprinkle generously with hot melted cheese seasoned with salt and cayenne and put in oven long enough to melt the cheese. Serve at once on a buttered loaf.

At the foundation of every perfect sandwich is Perfect Bread, to get the fullest enjoyment from these, they should be made from
