Idaho Has Good Crops—"Idaho is producing more alfalfa this year than it has for the past two or three years, and the climatic conditions are favorable for a bumper crop of all grains and truck products," says M. L. Dean, director of Bureau plant industry of Boise, after arriving in the city last evening where he will inspect the alfalfa crops of the Grande Ronde valley.

Has Made La Grande Many Times—Frank N. Carlless, of Tacoma, and manager of the railway department of the Standard Accident Insurance Company, left last evening for his home after spending several days in this city on business and visiting with a few of his old friends. Mr. Carlless has been running into this country for over thirty years and says that he never saw this part of the country look so prosperous as it does at the present time.

Might Be Misunderstood—In the Evening Observer's story on contracts let for paving yesterday afternoon it was made that two bids—that of Warren Construction company and Security Construction company—were opened by the city commission, the Warren bid being accepted because of the reliability of the company, etc. It might be read to indicate that the Security Construction company is not reliable which is a false impression as this company has done a great deal of state road building and has given universal satisfaction in the ability of its work.

The remainder of their route is over pavement or well improved roads—Elgin Recorder.

"Uncle Sam" in Town—S. L. Brooks, better known as "Uncle Sam" Brooks, arrived in the city last evening from his home in Imbler and stated that he has been in this vicinity for over fifty years and has not seen a better year for crops. "I have just finished planting over a hundred acres of alfalfa seed and it is my belief that every seed of it is going to grow, and the rain could not come at a better time for me, although it is making the grain grow so rapidly that it is liable to fall. All of the old farmers of Union County know my weakness for travel, and the only objection to the good old summer time is that it means that I must settle down to my farm and not spend my time traveling around over the universe."

Will Open Monday—Henry Warmholtz, a good barber and there is no questioning about it, but then he also has his artistic tastes too, and one will not question it when they see Henry behind the chair in his new location Monday. "My shop has been known as the New Star Barber shop for many months. But then days is gone forever and from now on it will be known as the New Summer shop and I have all the equipment to give one a hair cut or shave that will leave a good impression." The New Summer shop is finished in silver gray and has many more conveniences over the old shop and Mr. Warmholtz is confident that he can give his customers more satisfaction and service than he has been able to do in the past.

Episcopal Church

Simple Answers to Common Questions About the Church (To Be Continued)

Is Not the Episcopal Church Narrow and Exclusive?
No; for it recognizes all baptized persons as members. It welcomes all on the simple scriptural conditions of repentance, belief in the Apostles' Creed, and a spirit of obedience to God's law. It permits freedom of opinion in non-essentials.

Will An Episcopal Clergy Minister to Others Outside His Own Flock?
A clergyman of the Episcopal church is at the service of all world for any service that a minister of God may perform. He will certainly if a privilege to be called wherever his services are needed or desired.

Does the Episcopal Church Care for the Poor?
It has always been the church of the common people, as its Book of Common Prayer is for the use of all. In the great cities it leads in work among the poor. Its clergy never refuse a call to minister to the poorest and humbled. In our large cities we have more "Dough-Town Churches" which are maintained for the use of the poor than any other non-Roman body of Christians.

Do You Believe in Revivals?
The Church has kept for 1,500 years two revival seasons; a month before Christmas, called the Advent Season, and six weeks in the spring, called Lent. These and other seasons of special services called Parochial Missions, are kept expressly to revive and strengthen holy living and to spread the Kingdom of our Lord. We do not believe in sensational or emotional methods.

Do You Believe in Conversion?
Yes, for all who have turned away from God since childhood's innocence, it is constantly presented. It is a continuous process, going on through the years until we are "transformed into His likeness."

What Chiefly Distinguishes the Church From All Other Christian Bodies?
The continued identity of its Faith, Ministry and Sacraments with what Christ originally revealed and established.

Does Your Church Change With Changing Times and Places?
No. The principles of religion do not change nor does human nature. The Faith and Order which Christ established are suited to all sorts of conditions of men in every place and time. The form of worship may be modified to fit conditions.

What Claim, Then, Do You Make for the Episcopal Church?
That it has come down from the Apostles with the same spiritual life and authority, and that in its doctrine, government and usage it holds more closely to the Church of the early centuries than does any other body; maintaining as it does the Apostolic Doctrine in its simplicity and fullness, without the additions of the Roman Catholic on the one hand, and without the subtractions of sundry Protestant bodies on the other.

Is Not Your Church Specially for the Wealthy and Aristocratic?
The Episcopal church welcomes everyone to her fold, and treats every soul alike. Kings and beggars are baptized in the same way, boys are confirmed in the same way, boys at the same Holy Communion rail are married by the same service and at burial the same sacred words are said over their remains. Every cultured person is naturally attracted by the charm and beauty of her services.
