Tom Johnson's Handshake
 Having brought a shipment of cattle to Portland, Thomas Johnson of La Grande, did not even wait to see the cattle, but turned around and went home, thereby saving a hotel bill. Mr. Johnson is noted for his handshake and those who know him sort of keep their hands in their pockets when they meet him, not that they don't like Tom, but because they are afraid of his grip. Mr. Johnson has a grip like iron, one of those crushing affairs like that of Frank Ross, deputy United States marshal, and his hearty handshake is enough to put the average man out of business and hit him in a sting.—Oregonian.

FOSSILS BELIEVED TWO CYCLES OLD
 (By Associated Press)
 TUCSON, Ariz., June 6.—Two fossilized Mammoth tusks are the latest acquisition of the state museum at the University of Arizona here. The tusks were discovered recently by workmen on a ranch near Benson, Ariz., at a depth of about ten feet. The tusks are both believed by Director Byron Cummings of the museum to be from a Mammoth of the Pleistocene age, which would make their age approximately 20,000 years. The minerals of the ancient lake bed where they were deposited had turned the ivory of the tusks to silica.

"FAMOUS 7TH" IN COME-BACK

VANCOUVER, Wash., June 6.—Ninety of the oldest members of the 7th Infantry carried the battle flag of the famous old regiment in review here recently in a celebration which marked recognition by the war department that the organization had fought in the battle of New Orleans. Streamers, war torn banners and relics which had gone through many campaigns in the 125 years that the regiment has existed were on display. A bale of cotton recently presented to the soldiers here by the city of New Orleans, had a place of honor in the parade. Colonel Thomas M. Anderson, himself a veteran of two wars and for many years leader of the regiment, commanded the troops in the parade. The regiment was organized in 1798 and in the battle of New Orleans in 1815 the 7th Infantry was one of the units under General Jackson which bore the brunt of the furious British assault on the cotton breastworks. In the reorganization of the army later, a transfer was made and in 1920 the war department ruled that the present regiment was not the one that fought in the war of 1812. Delving into the records of the regiment and the department proved that the regiment had remained unchanged throughout the nineteenth century, and a few days ago this was recognized by the department.

ITINERARY OF PRESIDENT IS NOW COMPLETED

 The itinerary of the presidential party to Alaska has been tentatively worked out as the trip will largely be dependent on the president's desires on reaching the territory and also on transportation facilities. The itinerary announced at the White House, however, shows that the executive will spend about two weeks in Alaska with about five days to be consumed in the voyage from Tacoma to the territory and the same or somewhat less time for the return trip to Vancouver.

Details of the return by way of the Panama canal and Porto Rico likewise remain in the air, although it has been announced that the president would sail from San Diego on the shipping board steamer President Harrison. Only a day or two would be spent in the canal zone and the presidential party will continue on the President Harrison to San Juan, where, after a short stay, the members will continue upon another shipping board steamer, the American Legion, for New York.

LIVESTOCK SHOW ON AT UNION NOW
 Friday. Whether Mr. Pierce will be able to present more than one day of the show is not announced. The quality of the racing stock insures races of a fast nature. Some of the best stiers in the world, including Green Trickery, champion lady trick rider of the world, are present. The weather, while not absolutely perfect today, is up to expectations. The crowd in attendance today gives promise of a record-breaking attendance for the three days.

Episcopal Church
 Simple Answers to Common Questions About the Church
 (To Be Continued)

Is It Not An Objection to Your Services That You Repeat Them Over and Over Again, Year After Year?
 This repetition of our services is no valid objection, but a high recommendation. The ever-repeating services of the Church Year, with their constant changes in service, prevent an undesirable sameness. The services no more become monotonous than do food and drink for the body. The Christian who enters heartily into these services "over and over again" is the one who learns to "live soberly, righteously and godly" in this present world.

Are Not Forms of Prayer a New Thing?
 Hardly! Our Lord gave a form and from the Apostles' time on for more than 1,500 years, every Christian in the world used forms of prayer. Today 23 out of every 100 of the world's Christians continue using a Book of Prayer in public worship. In private prayer, also, the book will be found a help to devotion.

Doesn't Your Church Emphasize Form More Than Practice?
 Indeed, no. Every service holds up before us the example of Christ's living, the one model life that all should seek to pattern after.

What is the Use of So Much Form?
 Forms are but convenient helps to orderly, reverent and heartfelt worship. Under every minute portion of the Church's worship (cohesion, attitude, gesture, ornament, color, arrangement of building, altar, furniture) lies a meaning and a reason, strongly helpful when recognized. No merely empty form could have survived in the struggle of the centuries. The establishment of the service would be a helpfully study for any person.

Are You Not Lax in Attendance?
 The Church makes no hard and fast rule. Steadily setting our Lord's life as a model, the Church seeks to build up a steady Christian character, and so leaves the choosing of amusements to the prayerful judgment of each individual conscience.

Is the Episcopal Church a Script-reading Church?
 Listen to her doctrine: "Holy Scripture containeth all things necessary to salvation; so that whatsoever is not read therein, nor may be proved thereby, is not to be required of any man that it should be believed as an article of Faith." So much confidence has the Church in the power of the Divine Word that she uses every means to get the people to study Holy Scripture. Note the two lessons from the Bible read at each service. Five-sixths of the Prayer Book is from the Bible. Do you know that the Episcopal Church gave to the world the Bible in English?

Why Do You Keep Days—Good Friday, Ascension, White Sunday, etc., Besides Christmas and Easter?
 Why do people keep February 22 and July 4th, etc? Because these days make vivid in the memory that which no patriot can afford to forget. So the great days of the Church year make vivid the great facts in our Master's life—so that even a little child may know and remember what his Saviour did for him.

enings; Meacham, Ore., July 3; Portland, Ore., July 4, afternoon, and Tacoma, July 5, morning.

Speaks in Coast Cities.
 Returning from Alaska, the president will speak at Vancouver, B. C., July 26, evening; Seattle, July 27, evening; San Francisco, July 27, evening; Los Angeles, August 1, evening, and San Diego, August 4, afternoon.

Announcement also was made that on the trip to the coast the president would make brief visits to Zion and Yellowstone national parks, and on the trip down the Pacific coast would stop at Yosemite national park. The address at Meacham, Ore., will be in connection with the Oregon trail anniversary celebration.

Final details of the itinerary with respect to addresses were worked out Tuesday by the president in conference with Walter P. Brown, chairman of the commission on reorganization of governments departments and an adviser of the executive. Mr. Brown left Washington Tuesday night to confer with local committees on details of the president's visit to each of the 13 cities.

Visits to Alaska.
 The itinerary for the visit of the presidential party to Alaska has been tentatively worked out as the trip will largely be dependent on the president's desires on reaching the territory and also on transportation facilities. The itinerary announced at the White House, however, shows that the executive will spend about two weeks in Alaska with about five days to be consumed in the voyage from Tacoma to the territory and the same or somewhat less time for the return trip to Vancouver.

CONVENTION CLOSED WITH BIG BANQUET

general conditions due to people not eating meat. He contended that men of affairs, real men like Washington, Lincoln, Sheridan, Grant, Roosevelt, McKinley and Cleveland were all meat eaters, and the moment the nation got away from meat as the great diet we began to see a deterioration in many agencies of the government due to the non-meat eater entering public life.

Resolutions Adopted.
 The assembly adopted a list of resolutions affecting the live stock industry and elected the old officers of the organization to serve another year before adjournment. The next convention will be held at Baker.

Banquet Was Fine.
 In the evening the ladies of Union, under direction of the Union Chamber of Commerce, served an exquisite banquet to more than three hundred people. Loney's orchestra from La Grande furnished music throughout the banquet hour. The menu was superb as the imagination could frame in this valley where everything good to eat is grown, and the service was perfect.

O. M. Plummer was honored with toastmastership and he was a whiz at the business, entertaining last a dull moment to crowd into the evening. It was announced at the beginning of the speech-making period that Old Man Hugh had been refused admission to the banquet and hence the speeches were a speedy race to which could paint the brightest picture. Gov. Pierce led off and to his credit he said the old Walter, author of "Crime of the Age," was supplanted with the new Walter who had a message in his speech that breathed happiness and future possibilities. Many said frankly that the governor made the best speech of his entire career in the brief talk he delivered. Other banquet speakers were President William Poliman, of the association, Bruce Dennis of La Grande, William Hanley of Burns, John T. Kane, of the Salt Lake Stock Yards, W. J. Townley of Union, President Hess of the Union Chamber of Commerce, M. S. Levy, mayor of Union, Dr. W. T. Eby of Hot Lake, H. C. Barnell of Swift & Co., Fred Phillips of Baker, Robert Withycombe of Union, Hog Evangelist McAllister of the Portland Stock Yards, Tom Johnson of La Grande, S. O. Correll, secretary of the association at Baker.

Following the banquet a grand stockmen's ball was given in the new pavilion which was attended by the banqueters as well as the people of Union.
