POLA NEGRİ GREAT IN "BELLA DONNA, TODAY AND TOMORROW."

Incidentally proving herself the greatest tragic actress of the screen, Pola Negri, the famous European artist, made her debut in her first American made Paramount picture, "Bella Donna" at the Arcade Theatre last night. Sulfur her personality and artistry to perfection, "Bella Donna" is a screen creation by this gifted actress that will live long in the memory of those who see this remarkable cinema classic, produced by that master director, George Fitzmaurice.

Pola Negri is at her best in the portrayal of such characters as "Bella Donna," a notorious woman who marries Nigel Avon, an English engineer played by Conrad Nagel. When they go to Egypt, the spell of the tropics completely transforms her, and when she meets Baroudi, a desert chieftain, capably played by Conway Tearle, she forgets her husband's love and clings to him passionately. When he suggests that she gain her freedom by poisoning her husband, she agrees. Nigel narrowly escapes death and when he learns the truth, their separation follows. Then comes the supreme tragedy of the story—Bella's return to Baroudi only to find herself scorned, her agony on seeing her husband carried for by the woman he really loves, Lois Wilson, and her vaulting into the desert in the face of a fierce sand storm. In these scenes Pola Negri is at her best, and thrill after thrill is provoked by her wonderful artistry.

Mr. Nagel, Mr. Tearle and Miss Wilson, are featured players, render sufficient support while the cast generally is of all star caliber. "Bella Donna" is one of the strongest pictures seen here in years, and no lover of supreme cinema excellence can afford to miss seeing it during the remainder of its run here.

"Bella Donna" will close its run at the Arcade Theatre Saturday night.

SHERRYS, TODAY, SATURDAY "POOR MEN'S WIVES"
 Beautiful Women and Elaborate Settings in Picture Shown Here.

It probably will be pretty generally agreed by theatergoers that "Poor Men's Wives" are poor in name only, after the unusual picture production of that title is viewed.

In this Al Lichtman attraction, the director has made use of beautiful women, elaborate settings and remarkable artistic photography to tell a story that is brimful of the colored contrasts of light and shadow that go to make up a great photoplay.

Like all the big productions from the B. P. Schulberg studios, the cast leaves nothing to be desired. Such beauties as Barbara La Marr and Betty Francisco play the principal feminine roles. David Butler, the lovable hick of screen fame, gives an unusually convincing characterization as the taxicab-driving husband of Miss La Marr. Richard Tucker, suave, handsome and confident, plays a villainous role with a polish that almost causes one to wish he had been cast in a better part.

And Za Su Pitts, whose return to the screen has been one of the net hopes of so many picture fans, is seen once more at her best. Last, but far from least, are the lovable twins—Mickey McLean and Muriel McCormac—probably are the tiniest villains on the screen. They succeed in doing the one thing that brings trouble to the beautiful heroines, but win your hearts while doing it.

Comedy showing, "Blazes." Some farmers make little money, and some have an idle team and a mud hole that traps passing cars.

White-of-Egg in Calumet a Vital Element Most Baking Powders Lack

Don't use a leavener that does not contain white-of-egg. When you do you take chances—you run the risk of spoiling your bakings.

CALUMET

The Economy BAKING POWDER

contains a small amount of white-of-egg. This makes it possible for representatives of the company to test it frequently for leavening strength—right at the dealer's counter. Nothing but absolutely fresh stock is permitted to remain on the dealer's shelves. It must always be up to the high Calumet standard.

Remember the white-of-egg in Calumet protects the success of your bakings. It is the economical positive baking aid and its sale is 2 1/2 times as much as that of any other brand.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 1 1/2 lbs. Some baking powders come in 12 ounce instead of 16 ounce cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST BAKING POWDER

—Make It a Sandwich Luncheon
 The bigger the business man, the more important it is that his brain stays cool and clear for important decisions of the afternoon. You will be helping immeasurably your business fitness by making a simple, satisfying lunch of a glass of buttermilk and two tempting sandwiches—assuring highest nutrition plus deliciousness.

If you have your sandwiches made at home, ask for these tomorrow:

Egg and Olive Sandwiches
 Chop two hard-boiled eggs fine, add twelve large buttered olives which have been minced, season and moisten to a paste with mayonnaise. Spread between buttered slices.

Pimento and Cream Cheese
 Chop two pimentos fine and add to one cream cheese. Season and mix well, moistening with mayonnaise. A pleasing variety is given by using white bread for one-half of the sandwich and whole wheat bread for the other.

And of course, quality Bread must be the foundation:

Superfine Bread
 —is the loaf delicious—and the name to remember every time you eat Bread. Ask your grocer.
